HARDING DEFENDS WORLD COURT PROPOSAL

CONFERENCE OVER BUS LINE IS CALLED

Business Men to Meet at Luncheon on Wednesday to Take Action

A GROUP of prominent Glendale business men will meet at a luncheon tomorrow noon, Wednesday, April 25, in the auditorium of the Citizens' building, to confer with C. D. Gulick and his associates, of the Glendale Motor Bus Company, regarding the matter of the option to purchase the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company, which holds a permit from the state railroad commission to operate motor busses between this city and Los Angeles.

George H. Bentley, chairman of the committee in charge of the luncheon, who makes this announcement, states that this meeting is called at such short notice because of the fact that Mr. Gulick's option expires Friday, April 27, and it is believed that should this option not be taken up by the Glendale Motor Bus Company, the line will be purchased by the Pacific Electric Railway Company.

Tomorrow's luncheon is the outgrowth of a meeting held in the auditorium of the Citizens' building at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, April 23, Ed Radke presiding, at which the twenty-five representative business men present considered the problem of the short duration of this option and decided after some analysis of the situation to convene at luncheon Wednesday.

Prominent Speakers

Mr. Radke will be chairman of tomorrow's gathering, states Mr. Bentley. Among the speakers will be Lon Haddock, of the Haddock-Nibley company, who will talk on the need of a bus line in Glendale and the good it will do.

Mattison B. Jones, another speaker on the program, will point out to the assemblage what they may expect from Mr. Gulick and his company, and, in turn, what he wants Glendale to do to help him put his bus lines over.

The effect of obtaining this Verdugo Hills Transportation Company's line and permit will, from Mr. Gulick's point of view, furnish the connecting link between his plans to operate busses in Glendale and Los Angeles, as without that connecting link the two cities could not be served, it is pointed out.

Would Lower Fares

Everyone in Glendale realizes the need for better transportation, others say. The present P. E. round-trip rates to Los Angeles are 38 cents a trip, whereas the round-trip rates on the prospective Glendale Motor Bus Company's line will be 25 cents, Mr. Gulick has stated.

It is understood that the purpose of tomorrow's meeting will be to find out to just what extent Glendale will co-operate in securing adequate and economical bus service.

Among those who plan to attend the luncheon, as given out by Mr. Bentley, are the following: H. M. Butts, William Hooper, Owen C. Emery, Ed Radke, Walter Potter, William H. Reeves, A. T. Cowan, Harry White, Lon Haddock and George H. Bentley.

URGE MERCHANTS DECORATE STORES

About 3500 Visitors to Be Here Next Saturday, Is Committee Estimate

Local merchants are being invited to decorate their places of business Saturday in honor of the presence of about 3500 delegates to the annual southern California convention of Odd Fellows.

W. J. Royle of 347 West Maple avenue is grand marshall of the parade which will form at 11 o'clock north of Wilson avenue on Brand voulevard. The line of march will be south on Brand boulevard to Colorado street, back on Brand boulevard to Broadway and then east to Glendale avenue where it will disband. Delegates will then be taken in automobiles to the Verdugo park for the sports and festivities of the occasion.

Members of each cantonment will be in full dress uniform and the parade is expected to be quite spectacular.

Woman, Young Daughter Dead In Big Storm

PAWNEE CITY, Neb., Apr. 24.—With the death of Mrs. Clyde Brunsback this noon, the toll of lives exacted by the tornado which swept through southern Gage county yesterday evening was increased to two. Mrs. Brunsback died of internal injuries she sustained when the Brunsback home was turned topsy-turvy by the terrific winds. Her 3-year-old daughter, Evelyn, was crushed to death when she and the piano were blown out the front of the house. The piano was carried thirty-five yards by the wind and crashed to earth upon the little girl, who was mangled beyond recognition.

Physicians from across the Kansas line have been rushed in to care for the injured, two of whom, Mr. Brunsback and another infant daughter, are not expected to live.

HUSBAND TO AID CLARA PHILLIPS

Plans to Employ Attorney to Oppose Extradition From Honduras

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, April 24. — Clara Phillips, escaped hammer murderess, is now under arrest in Honduras, awaiting extradition to California, according to an official report to the state department today from the American consul at Tegucigalpa.

LOS ANGELES, April 24. — Reports that Armour L. Phillips will employ an attorney to fight the extradition of his wife, Clara Phillips, "hammer murderess," from Honduras, coupled with information from Washington that the woman held in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, was positively Mrs. Phillips, furnished a new sensation in the case today.

Official confirmation from the state department at Washington that the woman held in the Central American republic was Mrs. Phillips was expected hourly today by Sheriff Traeger.

Reported Confession

Meanwhile the sheriff's office was checking today on an anonymous letter received from a man which stated he received $5,000 with two other men to assist in the "tiger woman's" escape from the county jail here last December 5. The writer said that after Mrs. Phillips had been returned to Los Angeles he would appear at the sheriff's office and surrender himself.

Although Sheriff Traeger refused to make the text of the letter public, the man is said to have written that he has spent his share of the money; that his wife died recently; other adversities came upon him and he would as soon be in prison as anywhere.

Sheriff Traeger announced that because of duties here he will in all probability send Under Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz and his wife to Honduras to return Mrs. Phillips.

Disguised as Boy

The letter received by Sheriff Traeger detailed that Mrs. Phillips remained in Los Angeles for more than two weeks after her break from jail and then fled to Silver City, N. M., in an airplane when the turn of the search alarmed her.

The latest theory to be constructed about the escape of Mrs. Phillips is that she fled disguised as a messenger boy on the evening of December 4 about 5:30 o'clock when Madalynne Obenchain was being given her liberty.

It is recalled now that a messenger boy arrived at that time with a package for Mrs. Phillips and because of the excitement attached to the releasing of Mrs. Obenchain the package was not inspected. The package is believed to have been a messenger boy's uniform which Clara donned and departed without being noticed.

State Wins Victory In Murder Inquiry

ALBANY, N. Y., April 24.—The state won a sweeping victory today in the probe which it is making into the Ward-Peters murder mystery, under a decision of Supreme Justice Staley.

Justice Staley held the peace and safety act, under which the probe is being made, constitutional and ruled that Attorney General Sherman could introduce the Ward cablegrams in evidence "if they are pertinent."

The decision leaves it to Sherman to decide if the telegrams are "pertinent."

BOY SCOUTS LEADERS AT ENJOYABLE MEETING

First Annual Session of Roundtable Takes Place At Sunset Club

The complimentary dinner and first annual meeting of the Troop Leaders' Roundtable held Monday night at the Sunset Canyon Country club surpassed the most optimistic expectations of those who were behind it, in both attendance and enthusiasm. Indeed, the program committee of which M. F. Gilmer was chairman, is to be congratulated for, as one man put it, "a very delightful evening. The program was a wonder and the snap of it was keen to the core."

Frank C. Ayars made a topping good toastmaster and kept things moving along in fine shape. The outstanding man in the meeting was France W. Henry, who was the source of a continual round of pep, keeping everybody keyed up and feeling great with his songs, pep, and, of course, his Scotch stories; also had his Boy Scout orchestra on hand which has grown from five to eight pieces, and, by the way, every member of it belongs to Glendale Troop No. 2. The Scouts who played in the orchestra are Horace Brown, violin; Arthur Barton, saxophone; Dallas Kalbaugh, traps; Henry Sawyer, saxophone; John Klann, cornet; Rosce Graham, cornet; Robert McReynolds, clarinet, and Kenneth Miles, piano. Their music was greatly appreciated and they were given rounds of applause.

Gives Welcome

A. R. Eastman, president of the Verdugo Hills Scout Council, welcomed the scoutmasters to the dinner, which was given in their honor by the executive board.

"Nothing is more important for the Scoutmaster to study than the Scoutmaster's job," stated Leonard F. Collins, in speaking of the Scoutmaster's job as he saw it. "To my mind," he added, "there are three essential things for the Scoutmaster to consider. These are, first: Am I a good, clean, wholesome fellow? Second, Can I be a good fellow with the boys? And third, Have I the ability to organize, intensify and put over real scouting in my troop? There is no richer man in the world than the Scoutmaster who has the complete confidence of his boys."

$500,000 HOTEL GOES OVER TOP

Structure for Brand and California Is on Firm Financial Basis

Plans for the $500,000 hotel at the corner of California and Brand are definitely "over the top," it was disclosed at last night's conference of leaders in the movement, held at the Citizens' building auditorium, at 8 o'clock, D. H. Smith presiding.

"This means that the project is out of the speculative stage and on a sound financial basis," states Secretary J. B. Burn of the enterprise. "Many details are yet to be worked out and much co-operation needed, to facilitate the speedy erection of this structure —but it is going up, that is definite."

A building committee was appointed at last night's meeting, to consider the various building plans that have come to the attention of the organizers of the project, the idea being the selection of a set of plans that will give Glendale an ideal hotel, from the angles of accommodations, service and beauty. The chairman of this committee is Dr. E. H. Parker; other members being Mattison B. Jones, C. C. Cooper, J. G. Huntley, E. U. Emery and W. A. Horn.

To Meet Friday Night

A report from this committee will be heard at a further conference of the organizers of this project, to be held at 8 o'clock on Friday night, April 27, in the auditorium of the Citizens' building.

Among those present at last night's meeting were Dr. E. H. Parker, Mattison B. Jones, C. C. Cooper, J. G. Huntley, W. E. Evans, E. C. Pendroy, A. T. Cowan, Mrs. Lillian Empey, E. U. Emery, Owen C. Emery, D. H. Smith, W. A. Horn, Frank D. Meyers, Philip W. Parker and J. B. Burn.

Department of Justice Asked To Probe Graft

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The department of justice was asked this afternoon by officials of the treasury department to undertake an immediate criminal investigation of charges that federal officers connected with prohibition enforcement in Chicago had operated "a shake-down" ring by promising protection to bootleggers.

Affidavits forwarded here from Chicago by E. M. Salomon, who made the accusations, were studied by Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair and Prohibition Commissioner and then turned over to the department of justice.

CITY OFFICIALS PROBE DRILLING

Report of Wells Being Sunk In Verdugo Canyon Is Investigated

Mayor Spencer Robinson, City Manager W. H. Reeves, Councilmen Asa Hall and W. A. Horn, Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production, and George Woodbury, representing the Verdugo Canyon Water company, made a tour of inspection of the Verdugo Canyon this morning for the purpose of investigating the report that a number of wells are being sunk on the water bearing land from which the city of Glendale draws its water supply, and that would menace the citys' water supply if they are permitted to be drilled.

It was stated by Mayor Robinson, before starting on the inspection trip, that, if it is shown that the wells that are going in threaten to deprive the city of its water supply, every means at the command of the city administration will be used to prevent any further operations of this nature.

The city of Glendale owns a controlling interest in the Verdugo Canyon Water company, and will exercise its authority to safeguard the city's water supply in every possible way, and the principal object of today's trip is to permit the city officials to post themselves thoroughly on the subject and to be prepared to discuss it when it comes before the council for action.

MASONS TO PLAN FOR NEW TEMPLE

Meeting Called for Friday to Formulate Program for Building

Invitations have been issued to all members of the Glendale Masonic lodge to meet on the first floor of the Masonic Temple on South Brand boulevard at 7:30 o'clock on Friday night, April 27, to discuss plans for the erection of the proposed new Masonic Temple, which has been the subject of a number of conferences during the past few months.

The consulting architects will be present and will be prepared to submit verbal plans for the new building, and it is anticipated that a definite construction program will be adopted at Friday night's meeting, at which it is desired to have as large a representation of the members of the order as can be secured.

Owing to the growth of the local lodge and the various organizations connected with the order here, it has been found necessary to secure larger quarters than are afforded by the present Masonic Temple, and as soon as a definite building plan can be worked out and arranagements made for the financing of the project, it is expected that building operations will be started on the property on which the lodge now holds an option.

Judge Lindsey Talks About Juvenile Work

"Do right because it is right, and not because you may be punished if you don't."

This was the moral of the talk made before two assemblies at the high school this morning by Judge "Ben" Lindsey of Denver, who stated that he had been connected with juvenile court work for a quarter of a century.

"The way to get rid of bad things in this world,' he remarked, "is to get our lessons right. Do right because it is right and because you want to. I believe in the home, school, church and Sunday school.

"Moral courage is greater even than physical courage. It is very hard for some boys and girls to do the right thing, but if they learn their lessons right they will do the right thing."

Humor was added to the address by Judge Lindsey when he told of his experiences with the "ragamuffins" of Denver.

PRESIDENT SERVES NOTICE HE WILL NOT QUIT PLAN BECAUSE OF PARTY FIGHT

Chief Executive Also Warns That U. S. Will Never Be Part Of League Of Nations As Long As He Heads Government

U. S. and Mexico About To End All Disputes

NEW YORK, April 24.—President Harding departed from the text of his speech to assure his audience that American differences with Mexico are rapidly nearing settlement. "There is but one outstanding difficulty left in the adjustment of our relations in the western world," he said. "That is Mexico, and I am happy to assure you that the situation is rapidly nearing solution."

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

NEW YORK, April 24.—President Harding threw down the gauntlet today on his world court proposal. In a vigorous speech, which constitutes his reply to administration critics, Mr. Harding re-affirmed his faith in the court, denied emphatically that his administration is "flirting" with the League of Nations, and challenged his party to carry America into the court or admit that Republican platform pledges for the last twenty years are merely broken promises.

GEORGE R. HOLMES

The president served notice that he has no intention of abandoning the court because of the opposition to it within his party. On the contrary, he extolled the merits of the tribunal as containing the highest hopes for permanent world peace, and announced his intention of going through with it—even at the cost of Republican harmony.

At the same time the president declared with unusual emphasis that the United States is NOT now and will never be headed into the League of Nations so long as he is at the helm of government.

"This administration," asserted Mr. Harding, "does not propose to enter now, by the side door, the back door, or the cellar door. I have no unseemly comment to offer on the league. If it is serving the Old World helpfully, more power to it. But it is NOT for us. The senate has so declared, the executive has so declared, the people have so declared. Nothing could be more decisively stamped with finality."

TO MAKE HIS OPPOSITION TO AMERICAN ENTRANCE INTO THE LEAGUE ITSELF EVEN MORE EMPHATIC, MR. HARDING ASSERTED THAT EVEN IF THE SENATE EXPRESSED A CHANGE OF HEART AND TRIED TO PUT AMERICA INTO THE LEAGUE, HE, AS CHIEF EXECUTIVE, WOULD NOT ALLOW IT.

The president's acceptance on the court issue of the challenge of the Republican irreconcilables was bold and definite. He frankly recognized the bolting element of his party, and he was equally frank in asserting that if this was to be the break, then let it come.

The question of American adherence to the world court, Mr. Harding said, is one that transcends party lines. He reminded his audience of publishers at the outset that Republican platforms for twenty years have pledged the party to the world court ideal. Then he said:

"I would not have it thought that I hold this question paramount to all others cnfronting our government. I do not hold it a menace to the unity of any political party. It is not to be classed as a party question, but, if any party, repeatedly advocating a world court, is to be rended by the suggestion of an effort to perform in accordance with its pledges, it needs a new appraisal of its assets."

The president blamed "excessive foes" of the league and "excessive friends of the league" for much of the turmoil and stress which has sprung up around the court proposal, "muddying the political waters," he called it.

"Perhaps," he said, "the court is not all that some advocates of the court plan would have it, but it is, in a large measure, the fulfillment of an aspiration we have long boasted.

"Excessive friends of the league have beclouded the situation by their unwarranted assumption that it is a move toward league membership. Let them disabuse their minds, because there is no such thought among us.

"And the situation is likewise beclouded by those who shudder excessively when the league is mentioned, and who assume entanglement is unavoidable.

"If, in spite of these statements, uttered with full deliberation, there are excessive and unfounded hopes on the one hand, or utterly unjustifiable apprehensions on the other, I know of no word fittingly to apply."

The president recognized "one political bugbear" in his proposals—the six votes to one which the British government will have in the election of court justices. He recalled that as a senator in the League of Nations fight he had voted against this disparity. Then he said:

"But in an appraisal now I do not hesitate to say that, if other great powers can accept without fear the voting strength of the British dominions, when they are without ties of race to minimize international rivalries and suspicions, we ought, in view of the natural ties of English-speaking kinship, feel ourselves free from danger."

"This is the whole story of the court matter in a nutshell," the president said.

"It is in harmony with platform pledges, candidatorial promises, and, I believe, with American aspirations."

Nearly all of the president's address, delivered to the newspaper publishers attending the annual luncheon of the Associated Press, dealt with the international court. Near the close, however, Mr. Harding briefly discussed domestic matters.

He re-affirmed his position in favor of a powerful American merchant marine, and asserted, "If we cannot sell (our ships) we will operate, and operate aggressively." It would be a "small administration," he said, that would allow itself, in a fit of pique, to sacrifice the government's great shipping interests merely because the senate would

High Lights of Harding's Talk

NEW YORK, April 24.—Here are the high lights of President Harding's speech:

"The administration definitely and decisively put aside all thought of the United States entering the League of Nations. It does not propose to enter now, by the side door, the back door or the cellar door.

"I have no unseemly comment to offer on the League. If it is serving the Old World helpfully, more power to it. But it is not for us.

"I believe humanity would welcome the creation of an international association for a conference and a world court whose verdict on justifiable questions this country, in common with all nations, would be willing and able to uphold.

"Excessive friends of the league have beclouded the situation by their unwarranted assumption that it is (the world court plan) a move toward league membership."

HEALTH-AGAIN TALKS
By Dr. Otey
"How long does it take to give an Osteopathic Treatment?"
A treatment is not a routine of exercise, or set of motions. It is not learned or given by rote. When you go to a dentist to have a tooth pulled he cannot tell you how long it will take—perhaps one minute, possibly an hour. When he gets through he will quit. That is what your osteopath will do, whether it takes him five minutes or an hour. It may take one treatment or a dozen. Likewise, the dentist will not pull your tooth till he examines it and determines whether that is the best course to pursue. Neither will the Osteopath take your case unless he determines on examination that yours is a case that will yield to Osteopathy. Perhaps the average length of treatment is thirty minutes. They are not given by the clock.

In Bard's Memory

A demonstration of the accomplisnments of Tuesday Afternoon club women in their sectional activities was given yesterday afternoon, when members of the Shakespeare Section celebrated the date of Shakespeare's birth with the presentation of scenes from "Romeo and Juliet" in the clubhouse auditorium.

It was a production well beyond the realm of the amateur and Mrs. H. W. Ralston, director, and the section members taking part are deserving of the highest praise for their clever interpretations.

Under the direction of Mrs. M. F. Garrett the section has been studying "Romeo and Juliet" and their work yesterday reflected the thoroughness of their instruction and study.

It was Mrs. Garrett who wrote the comprehensive introduction to the scenes, read by Mrs. W. E. Evans in the garb of an Elizabethan page. Opening the stage curtains for the appearance of Mrs. Evans were two tiny pages, Billy Hunter and Randolph Vandewater.

The Shakespeare Section is fortunate in having among its members several women with professional dramatic experience, and these together with other talented members shared honors yesterday.

The first scene presented was the ballroom scene, in which a group of English morris dances were given under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain. Those taking part were Mesdames H. L. Clotworthy, W. W. Jones, C. Kling, William Hunter, W. E. Halstead, R. K. Snow, Colin Cable and H. C. Vandewater. Mrs. E. W. Kingsley appeared as the old nurse. Mrs. R. A. Puffer Sr., played for the dancing.

Mesdames William Hunter and R. A. Puffer Jr., then gave the balcony scene and Mrs. Puffer's singing of the serenade and love songs was heartily applauded. She was accompanied by Mrs. Roberta Young.

The scene between Juliet and her old nurse was most cleverly presented by Mesdames A. H. Montgomery and Colin Cable.

In the second balcony scene those taking part were Mesdames William Hunter, C. Kling, W. E. Halstead, R. K. Snow and E. W. Kingsley.

Mrs. Montgomery again appeared in the scene between the friar and Juliet. Mrs. Ralston played Juliet and both she and Mrs. Montgomery were complimented on their finished work.

The final scene in which Juliet drinks the sleeping potion was given by Mrs. Ralston, who is exceptionally well fitted for Shakespearean parts.

Closing the program was a clever sketch "The Bear" by Anton Tcheckov and presented by Glory Raye, Clarence Ralston and Ben Grett, through the courtesy of Harl McInroy, director of the Co-Operative Repertory Theare association.

At the close of the program the Shakespeare Section served tea and cakes in the Italian tea room.

New Studio Home

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cotton and daughter, Dorothy, of 1137 San Rafael avenue, Casa Verdugo, are moving today to Eagle Rock where they have leased a home at 203 South Peyton avenue.

They have made their home in Casa Verdugo for the past five years and are leaving many friends in that community as well as in circles of music and art in Glendale.

It is with regret that they are leaving the city but Mr. Cotton has found it to be imperative that he find a home with a studio where his pictures can be displayed, his collection being entirely too large to display in their former home. They were unable to find any place in Glendale that quite filled the requirements and were more fortunate in Eagle Rock. They will soon be settled in the new home, where they announce that "the latch string will always be out" to their friends from Glendale.

The new home is two blocks east of the terminus of the Eagle Rock car line and one block south on Peyton avenue.

Mrs. Cotton plans to continue as director of the choir of the Casa Verdugo church and still be identified with the Madrigal club.

Mrs. Woods expressed in her charming manner, her appreciation of the co-operation she had received from each member of the cast and the Community Players, and that she hoped she would have the pleasure of continuing in the capacity of director of the Community Players in many more productions.

Birthday Surprise

Edwin D. Hamlin, local realtor, celebrated his birthday yesterday, but, the significance of the day wasn't brought home to him until he was taken to the Chamber of Commerce hall last night, where he found a company of relatives and friends gathered for a dancing and card party, arranged as a birthday surprise by Mrs. Hamlin and Mrs. David W. Hepburn, assisted by Mrs. Mabel Judd, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Landon, Mrs. C. E. Bouton and Miss Jones.

BOYS AMERICA'S GREATEST ASSET

Rotarian Tells Reasons for Clubs Sponsoring All Boys' Activities

"To understand better why Rotary clubs all over the world are sponsoring the Boys' Week program, including Loyalty Parades and other phases of the idea," says Vice-President George B. Karr of the Glendale Rotary club, "and why Glendale is holding such a parade this Friday afternoon, April 27, at 3 o'clock, it is necessary to get a basic conception of the idea itself, and of its vital connection with the security of this nation in the years to come.

"The germ of the idea is in International Rotary's slogan—'Boys, a Nation's Greatest Asset.' The boyhood of a country is its future man-power. The saying to the effect that the tree will grow as the twig is inclined was never more applicable than to the boy problems. To have for America a man-power in the coming generation that is 'mentally alert, physically clean and morally straight'—the ideal of the Boy Scouts—the present generation must take upon itself the job of inclining the twig—namely, training the boys.

Develop Loyalty

In particular, the purpose of the Loyalty Parades is to develop loyalty on the part of the boys and to give the adult citizens an opportunity to review their future protectors and ultimate successors.

"What such demonstrations accomplish is to awaken interest on the part of the public in organizations engaged in boys' work, to focus attention on the boys and their problems, to create a healthier attitude toward tht boys, to develop in each boy himself a respect for the ideals of his country and the opportunities that await him in the community, to provide means for the schools and other organizations working with boys to demonstrate the progress they are making, and to cultivate in the minds of citizens generally the idea that boys are the foundation-stone upon which the nation is being built, and that will make it either strong or weak, according as that foundation-stone is strong or weak."

Actor Buys 20 Shirts From Glendale Factory

William Duncan, of Los Angeles, who takes the lead in serials for the Vitagraph, is now having twenty shirts made to his measure at 1725 South Brand boulevard in the factory of the Baldwin Shirt Company.

His measure, by the way, is a 16½ neck and a 44½ chest. Ten of the shirts are made out of heavy plaid flannel in five different patterns. This will enable him to change his shirt in the midst of a picture—no, that ain't right—this will enable him to change his shirt without interfering with the photography—no that ain't right, either—this will enable him to wear two shirts during the progress of the same picture. No, not simultaneously but in succession.

Mr. Duncan's shirt bill will be $235—but then he has included in the order eight tailored shirtwaists for his wife.

CHILD, 11, SHOWS POETIC PROMISE

Dorothy Erskine Turns Out Promising Verses on Many Subjects

The following poem was written by Dorothy Erskine, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don S. Erskine of 1238 South Maryland. Dorothy is a pupil at the Glendale avenue intermediate school and has written a number of poems which show much promise. She also wrote a little play, "On May Day," and presented it last week on the lawn at her home, netting a nice little sum for the queen contest for the May festival at the Cerritos school.

A FRIEND

When you've all the trouble and grief of this world,
When you've seen every real disappointment unfurled,
When your losses are those that you cannot mend,
Above all others you will turn to a friend.

For, who is kinder or more true than a friend?
Who will hear all your troubles from beginning to end;
Who, in sorrow and joy, will gladly help you;
A friend who is noble, steadfast and true.

A friend woh will help you suffer in loss;
One who will help you to carry your cross,
Who asks no reward from beginning to end,
But the old, old privilege of being a friend.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Advertisement.

LECTURER TELLS OF C. S. BELIEFS

Message of Cheer Brought By Christian Science To World Today

"The Revelation of Truth" was discussed last night by Mrs. Blanche K. Corby, C. S. B., in her lecture on "Christian Science" at the local church.

Mrs. Corby is a member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church in Boston, Mass., and local Christian Scientists were greatly gratified over her coming to Glendale.

She said in part:

"The message that Christian Science brings to the world today is one of good cheer; it is one of hope, comfort, health, complete salvation. To a world stricken with suffering and unrest, Christian Science offers deliverance from all the discords of life.

"Christian Science reveals to this age the fact that nothing has happened to weaken or to destroy man's God-given dominion. It is impossible that man, made in the image and likeness of God, could fall into evil and sin; yet the belief that he did so fall has caused all the sorrow and suffering on earth. The first step toward freedom from evil is generally taken through the desire for physical healing. The healing method of Christian Science, the healing method used by Jesus, is unique, but there is no mystery, nothing supernatural about it. It is the simple teaching of Jesus, the spontaneous and natural result of better thinking.

"Fear is the archenemy of humanity, and many are those who are living under its constant pressure and know not how to escape from its bondage. Christian Science reveals that God's universe, including man, was created without fear, that the real man has no fear of disease, contagion or epidemic; therefore, fear is without hope and without God, and anything without God has no real existence, because God is the only creator."

PLAY TO CENTER AROUND BONFIRE

Broadway School Grounds to Be Scene of "Hard Times" Affair

The Broadway school grounds will present a picturesque appearance tonight (Tuesday) when, starting at 7:30 o'clock, a "Hard Times" affair will focus its appeal around a big bonfire where the Legionnaires will twang their lyres and lift their voices in song.

The program is in charge of the Broadway Parent-Teachers' association and the Fathers' club. Mrs. William R. Wichert, president of the Parent-Teachers' association, names the following as among those responsible for the detailed preparations that are to make the affair what she believes a big success:

W. C. Wyckoff, of the Fathers, and Miss Farner and Miss Speik, teachers; Mrs. McDowell, Mrs. Stumbaugh, Mrs. Schorbikow, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, R. M. Ferguson, Charles Larson, Mr. Dampf.

Colonel Jas. W. Everington wishes to convey to all Legionaires the "order of the night"—"Come along with your voices and your stringed instruments," he says, "and help make this night of Glendale's Play Week a big success."

As this is a "hard times" affair, Mrs. Wichert urges everyone to come in their old clothes, dressed for play.

Men's Church Club to Stage Entertainment

The entertainment committee of St. Mark's Men's club announce an interesting program tonight at 8 o'clock, in the basement of the church, corner of Louise and Harvard streets.

Police Chief Col. John Fraser will talk on "Speed Laws"; Lieutenant Joseph V. Griffin will give a "Monologue"; Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson will sing and there will be other solos, Mr. Holt promising a number.

All are welcome to attend, the committee announce, and the entertainment is free.

Renewed Testimony

No one in Glendale who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Long Beach man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no resident of this locality can doubt.

Jas. Franks, 915 Dawson Ave., Long Beach, Cal., says: "Many years ago I had kidney trouble and I suffered with backache. At times my back was so lame and stiff I had to crawl around on my knees in order to stop the pain. The pains were sharp and shooting and darted through my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they proved most beneficial as they soon cured me of the trouble. I have had no return of it."

FIVE YEARS LATER Mr. Franks said: "My opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills is as good today as it was when I endorsed them some time ago. I gladly renew my former statement."

ART ASSOCIATION THANKS PUBLIC

Well Pleased at Interest in Window Display; Many Votes Being Counted

The Glendale Art Association, through its president, Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, wants to thank the people of Glendale for their interest in the exhibit of art work now placed in the windows of various local merchants along Brand boulevard.

"So considerable has this interest been," says Mrs. Ballagh, that the number of ballots cast in the popularity contest has swamped us. We have not yet completely counted and checked them, but will be able to announce the winner in a day or so.

"We feel that this exhibit has reached hundreds of people who do not ordinarily visit art galleries. Now, having introduced to Glendale her artists, and found that she was very glad indeed to meet them, we have made arrangements to perpetuate the idea. From now on permanent exhibits of local paintings, sculptures and other art forms will be on exhibit in the windows of the Glendale Book store, 115½ South Brand boulevard, and in the windows of the Glendale Paint & Paper Company, 119 South Brand boulevard. These exhibits will be changed weekly."

Change Meeting Date

Mrs. Ballagh states that at a recent board meeting of the Glendale Art association, the time of the second meeting in each month was changed from the third Sunday afternoon to the third Friday night.

A Junior section was also formed, to hold its first exhibit starting May 20, in the juvenile room of the Public Library, corner of Harvard and Kenwood. All grammar school pupils will be eligible to submit in this exhibit, the only stipulation being that the work submitted must be at the library by May 15, with name, address and grade attached.

The next public meeting of the association will be Sunday afternoon, May 6, at the library, Mrs. Ballagh announces, at which time Edouard Vysckle, teacher at the Otis Institute, Los Angeles, and a painter of note, will be the principal speaker, several of his paintings being on exhibit.

Masked Bandit Stages Daring Hotel Holdup

SAN FRANCISCO. April 24.—A masked bandit who invaded the auditor's office at the Clift hotel on the mezzanine floor early yesterday afternoon, held up Miss Margaret McDades, assistant auditor, and Miss Lina Lund, bookkeeper, at the point of a revolver and escaped with $600 in currency and $5,000 in checks. The bandit ordered the two girls to "remain quiet for five minutes" and then cut the telephone wires leading from the office, locking the door to the room as he left. It was several minutes before the cries of the girls for help brought response and by that time all trace of the bandit was lost. He is believed to have had knowledge of the fact that the bank deposits for the day were customarily made up at the time he pulled the holdup.

FUN RIOT MARKS CREDIT MEETING

Exciting Races and Boxing Bout Enliven Weekly Luncheon Monday

The grave and serious members of the Glendale Credit association threw dull care to the winds, relegated the minutes of the previous meeting and the rest of the routine business to the background and turned yesterday's weekly luncheon at the Citizens' building into the first outbreak of fun to be staged during National Play Week.

William Hunter had charge of the program, and he was assisted by Albert Cornwell and Ruie Downing in putting on the various events that had been prepared for the amusement of the more than fifty members and guests of the association who were present.

They sent three teams off on a fast centipede race, in which four men in each team had to straddle a broomstick and race the length of the hall and back again. Where the amusement came in was when one of the team members took it into his head to change front independently, without waiting for his leader to swing around and whirl the rest into line, with the result that some of the centipedes were racing face to the rear while their team-mates were progressing the way Providence intended men to walk, face forward. This event was called a dead heat.

The teams were composed of C. H. Kirkman, Ed Nisle, R. C. Plume and Harry Webb, in one team; W. H. Hooper, H. M. Butts, Dan Kelty and Don Webb in another; and W. E. Page, C. J. Hatz, Thomas L. Totman and Ed Radke in the third.

Hot Air Pushers

Another event that made a hit was the balloon race, in which four teams competed to see which could pass a balloon back like a football, the last man in line taking first place each time every man in the team had handled the balloon. Ernest Tucker's team, consisting of himself, James A. Robinson, Fred H. Roberts and Owen Emery, showed themselves to be the champion hot air pushers of the bunch and cantered home an easy winner. The other teams were made up of C. H. Bott, F. H. Allen, S. F. Bell and Dr. R. C. Logan; David Gregg, W. H. Reeves, Dr. J. P. Luccock and George H. Thomas; A. T. Cowan, Robert T. Philps, Don Packer and G. O. Piercey.

Dr. Charles A. Stuart, who battles under the name of Terrible Kid East, and Dr. Roy V. Hogue, whose ring title is Gordon Gin, battled four fast rounds to a draw decision, which was well received.

It was learned that E. F. Grable, deposed president of the maintenance of way men, has been certified to the president as a nominee for membership on the board by the labor group.

Said the Ruble to the Mark

Said the Ruble to the Mark, "We don't amount to much, do we?"

"No," said the Mark. "How can we? Our folks have gone back on us—they reckon us as of little account."

"Too bad," said the Ruble. And so it is.

When people "go back" on their money, prosperity dies and reckless spending begins; for money is, after all, an expression of confidence in our glorious country and its wonderful resources.

If we spend for the things we need and save money reasonably, we display the right sort of faith. We put value into our efforts when we manage to restrain our spending. A nation that saves reasonably gets the most for its money. So does an individual.

World Looks to U. S. For Help, Says Gary

NEW YORK, April 24.—"The responsibility of the United States in world affairs is greater today than ever before." Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, declared in an interview granted newspapermen. Gary discussed his trip to Europe.

"I believe this responsibility is fully and clearly realized by President Harding and his administration," continued Gary.

"Outside of the United States, every country in the world is looking to the United States with the hope and expectation and confidence for the moral, and in some instances, financial support which are necessary in the recovery from the despondency and misery which have resulted from the conflict of the past few years."

PRINCETON, N. J., April 24.—Reference by Lord Robert Cecil to former President Woodrow Wilson as "one of the most distinguished men of his generation," was greeted with vociferous applause by more than 2,000 students and townspeople whom the British statesman addressed here yesterday.

Lord Cecil urged support of the League of Nations and the principle of international co-operation.

Deny Plan to Assign Navy to Rum Battle

WASHINGTON, April 24.—There is no likelihood of ships of the United States navy being assigned to the task of running down down rum-carrying vessels operating off the American coasts, it was declared by officials of the treasury department.

Such a plan, suggested to President Harding by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, has been abandoned because of lack of funds, and it will have to await the action of the next congress, it was stated.

ENDEAVORERS AT POMONA MEETING

A group of young people from the Glendale Presbyterian church were in attendance at the recent Christian Endeavor convention at Pomoa. It was a big gathering of Endeavorers from all parts of Los Angeles county, and the local delegation reports live programs and splendid entertainment.

The theme for the convention was "The Infallible Word," and addresses were given by such well-known speakers as Dr. Hadden, Dr. Gifford, Dr. Rourke, Rev. Bob Shuler and Paul Brown.

Several street meetings were held during the time between sessions on the main corners of Pomona, and one of the speakers was Harold Majors, one of the Glendale delegates.

The young people are now anticipating the state convention at Long Beach, June 27 to July 1.

Those attending from the Intermediate Christian Endeavor of the Glendale Presbyterian church were Howard L. Brown, superintendent; Mildred Elliot, assistant superintendent; Mildred Thompson, Mildred Sooy, Margaret Jones, Margaret Majors, Ruth Jeckel, Gladys Gilman, Louise Hoit, Thomas McClellan, Harold Jones, Harold Parker, Harold Majors, Daryl Parker, Percy Jewell, Paul Edmonds, Fred Fallis, John Thompson, John Heideman, Lyle McAllister, Graham Tinning and John Elliot.

S. P. Slashes Rates on West Bound Traffic

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—As another step towards meeting the competition of the intercoastal lines in the movement of transcontinental traffic, the Southern Pacific company announced today reductions on a wide range of articles moving between eastern points and California.

On some articles the reductions range as high as 49 per cent, and some of the principal articles affected in the west-bound list will be agricultural implements, motorcycles, bicycles, coke, boilers and radiators, cotton goods and many other articles.

The reduced rates will become effective as soon as the tariffs can be published.

May Hold Up Salary Claims of Lobbyists

SACRAMENTO, April 24.—The "lobby war" broke out afresh here when the state board of control served notice on Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, that his salary claims and the claims of his deputies would be held up if they persisted in lobbying against the administration budget.

Wood countered with a challenged to the board of control to make good their threat, and announced that if any of the educators' salaries are held up he will bring court action to stop payment of Governor Richardson's salary on a charge that he, too, is guilty of lobbying.

A Test of Talent

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

The City Club at Wardstown met to discuss the music famine. "It is too bad," Dan Wynans declared, "this town has to send its boys and girls to Hooperville to take lessons and that we have nobody to open and close our formal meetings with appropriate melody." The club agreed, and Wynans continued:

"Now next week, on Thursday afternoon, the Hoopertown Mendelssohnian Circle has its annual recital and their best players will all contribute. I'm willing to bet we could go down there, listen to the whole crowd and take our pick. We could promise him enough pupils to make it worth while and, at the same time, there would be some pleasure in swiping, or removing, Hooperville's best player."

The idea met with instant approval. Pupils were promised for every working hour of the lucky musician's time, and it was arranged that he or she be invited to give a recital in Wardstown on the evening of the one in Hooperville.

"Being as Dan Wynan proposed the deal," the president said, "and how he is a good judge of tunes, he can go down and take his pick of the Hooperville talent, bring it back in his machine and put on a show for us. I make it in the form of a motion under the head of unfinished business." Approval was unanimous and in accordance with the by-laws and rules of order.

Hooperville heard of the project with the result that there was unusual rivalry among the musicians. It was generally agreed that, if the Wardtown judge had any sense, the choice would be between Phil Trent, violinist, and Larson Norton, 'cellist.

Dan Wynan, his wife and daughter, Dorothy, sat in the front row when the trials came off, the old man giving careful attention to each number. When the 'cellist chose appealing airs which gave the greatest opportunities for the sobbing and breath-catching qualities of his instrument, Dan's eyes grew misty, and Phil, watching him, decided the decison had been made. Norton left the stage smiling.

"I guess I got him, all right," he said to his rival. "Nothing like playing the stuff with the punch."

Phil Trent did his best and knew he had done well. He wondered if the old man knew music well enough to detect the fine margin of superiority he knew he possessed over the other. The applause was not so loud as that for Norton and the violinist felt he had lost.

"Get ready right away," Dan Wynan addressed the surprised violinist. "We have a long way to drive, and you know there is a concert in Wardtown tonight."

Scarcely believing his good fortune, Phil climbed into the small automobile to sit beside Dorothy for the ride to Wardtown. He had noticed the girl in the hall and had listed her first among the reasons for hoping that he might win.

"When you play the violin," said Dorothy, to make conversation, "why do you wear that handkerchief under your chin. Does a violin hurt your face?"

Phil explained gently, feeling his superiority, and swelled with pride when she said, "My, I thought it was just wonderful when you put that little jigger under the strings and played so soft and weepy like!"

Phil taught music to Wardtown and his star pupil was Dorothy, a merry girl, who surprised him with an unexpected knowledge of the instrument. Wardtown suspected they were engaged before they themselves realized they were in love.

"I wonder," said Phil, one night when they sat on the porch looking at a sky studded with stars, "how your father happened to choose me over Larson Norton. Do you suppose it was because it was meant that way, that we should meet and love each other?"

Dorothy turned her head and answered softly, "That must have been it."

How was she to tell him that Dan had made the choice because the automobile was crowded, and a violin took up less room than a 'cello?

Daily Fashion Hint

Prepared Especially for The Glendale Evening News

FROCKS OF STUNNING SIMPLICITY

Against a background of tan wool crepe, bands of check silk in henna and brown repose, to further smarten the simplicity of the first dress pictured. The dress is slashed and closed at the center-front, under fold of the silk, the round neck being collarless. Since ginghams have come into a new vogue, this model may be used for something attractive in these materials for summer. Medium size requires 1 yard 36-inch check and 3 yards 30-inch plain material.

Individuality expresses itself in the hem-stitched tucks and upstanding neckband featured on the second dress of white cotton crepe. The waist closes on the left shoulder and under the left arm. If preferred, the shoulder seams may be left open part way. A pretty touch of color may be added in a girdle of two-tone satin ribbon. Medium size requires 4½ yards 36-inch material.

First Model—Dress No. 1508. Sizes, 34 to 48 inches bust. Price 35 cents.

Second Model—Dress No. 1519. Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust and 16 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents.

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

ANSWERED LETTERS

Rose Marie—The directions that come on the packages of dye will tell you what to use to set the color. Vinegar is usually suggested when the dyes are alkali.

Miss Clara Y.—You probably have not quite recovered from your nervous breakdown, which would account for the muddy complexion. Include plenty of green vegetables and fruit in your diet, nad be sparing with meats and starchy foods. If you do this your weight will return to normal, and your liver with become more active, thereby improving your skin.

Thank You—Any kind of oil may be used on the nails, as the idea is to keep them from becoming brittle. If you rub the oil into the nails you will find that it becomes absorbed. This will determine how much should be used. It will also help if you work some of the oil into the skin around the base of nail.

If a cream is intended for cleaning, it is so labeled. It should also be much cheaper than the massaging creams, as it does not have to be made from nourishing and expensive oils. Cocoa butter will cause hair to grow on some skins when used on the face, so it is best never to take any risk in trying it out; however, you may use it on your chest, as there is no danger of its growing hair on any part of the body. It does fatten.

Ethel H.—When massaging cream into the skin around the eyes the motion is circular—starting over the eyes, coming down at the temples, and then under the eyes to the nose. In massaging the cheeks always work upwards to counteract the tendency that the facial muscles have of drooping.

Waiting—Pitch and myrrh, in equal parts, rubbed into the nails will bleach off these white spots. Apply the mixture at night and cover the finger tips with gloves to protect the bedding. Oil will remove the mixture if it does not wash off.

Bobbie—I am sure a hair tonic would improve that condition of your scalp. If you would care to try mine, send a stamped addressed envelope to have the formula mailed to you.

Elain W.—Brush the hair at the cowlick so it will turn to the opposite direction. In time you will find that this training has overcome the tendency.

Thank You—Rub into your hands a small quantity of any of the honey and almond mixtures each time after you wash your hands. It is not so much the temperature of the water that is making your hands so coarse as it is the soil that is griming the skin. These mixtures keep the skin from chapping and are to be recommended for use during the day, inasmuch as they become absorbed at once, leaving the hands dry, so there is no need of loss of time from work.

Blonde—Soak the hair in kerosene and tie it up over night. This treatment will destroy the active vermin. Next day shampoo thoroughly, then use a fine-toothed comb kept very wet through constant dipping in vinegar. The vinegar will remove the shells that cling to the hair shafts.

Tomorrow—Slim Ankles.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

H. A. K.—"Can any of your readers give me a recipe for crumb cookies that are rolled—I mean like the crumb cookies sold in bakeries?"

Answer—I am sure that some kind Reader Friend will send her recipe to me to publish here for you.

J. F. F.—"I am going to give an International Dinner, with dishes to represent the various countries. I plan to serve Mexican beans, Swiss steak, Chinese chop suey, India relish, Spanish onions, and so forth. Can you give me a recipe for Hungarian goulash?"

Answer—I think your dinner is a very clever idea. Here is the recipe you wish: Hungarian Goulash: Slice one large onion and brown it in three tablespoons of bacon fat; then remove the onion slices and put into the same fat one pound of lean veal and one-half pound of lean beef, both cut small. Brown these meat-cubes very thoroughly, then remove them from the pan and place them in an earthen baking dish or casserole; pour over them three cups of boiling water and season with one teaspoon of paprika. Put on the cover and cook in a hot oven for one and one-half hours. Then add to the casserole six tiny balls cut out of raw carrots, six turnip balls and six small white onions—all of these vegetables fried in smoking hot fat.

Season the dish with one teaspoon of salt, a piece of bay leaf, one whole clove and one chile pepper minced. Also add to the dish one cup of cold water mixed to a smooth paste with two heaping tablespoons of flour. Stir the mixture till slightly thickened, add one cup of boiling water, cover tightly and cook for another hour and a half in the oven. Serve hot in the same dish with a napkin pinned around it (unless it is a casserole with a fancy nickel holder).

Mary Louise — "How can I clean my Holland window shades?"

Answer—Lay the shades one at a time on a table and rub lightly with powdered bath brick applied with a slightly moistened pad of old rags; or else rub them down with a cheesecloth bag filled with heated cornmeal. Finish by dusting with a soft brush.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

THE DIET IN NEURITIS, NEURALGIA, MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM AND AUTO-INTOXICATION

It is important to have a thorough physical examination by a competent physician to find out the cause of neuritis, neuralgia, muscular rheumatism, etc. It may be that the cause is due to auto-intoxication from imperfect diet, or it may not be. But, whatever is the cause, especial attention should be paid to the diet, in order that there shall be the minimum of toxic material in the body.

If you are overweight, you should reduce. Many cases of neuritis, neuralgia, muscular rheumatism and many other obscure disorders disappear upon reduction of excess weight. In these cases we could then think that the overeating, and the slow poisoning from excess waste products in the system, was evidently the cause. There is an opposite side of this, also, for under-eating for the needs—thus causing a semi-starvation acidosis, with irritation of the nerves and muscles—may be the cause of the condition.

It is highly important that there should be a thorough cleaning out of the intestinal tract every day. Kellogg goes to the extent of saying there should be an evacuation three times a day, so that the residue in the intestines has no time to putrefy and produce its poison. He advises for this bran or agar and liquid petroleum taken three times a day in sufficient quantities to produce three evacuations. He also advises during the acute attack the use of warm enemas of three or four pints daily to still further clean out the lower bowels.

As it is the protein that putrefies if it is held in the bowels long enough, excess of protein in the diet should be strictly guarded against. Vegetable proteins produce less putrefaction than animal. All flesh foods should be omitted at this time.

Bacterial Flora

In the intestines, especially in the large intestines, are many bacteria. Bacteria, the lowest form of vegetation, are normally present and form a large part of the contents of the lower bowel. The bacterial vegetation of the bowels is known as the intestinal "flora." Where there is excess putrefaction, the putrefactive bacteria predominate. This happens when there is excess protein or too long retention of the water in the bowels.

There is another type of vegetation in the intestinal flora, the fermentative type, which hinders the growth of the harmful putrefactive type. These should be encouraged. In many disorders the putrefactive bacteria predominate, it is necessary to change the flora in these cases.

Some people are remarkably benefited in cases of auto-intoxication by going on an exclusive fruit diet for two or three days. Any fruits will do, avoiding the very acid fruits in cases of hyperacidity or if they seem to disagree. Others are remarkably benefited by going on a milk or buttermilk diet. These diets change the intestinal flora. One of the reasons for the good effects of the milk diet is because it does change the intestinal flora from a predominating putrefactive type to the fermentative type.

Fats in excess help increase putrefaction, so they should be limited. Every day a goodly quantity of fresh vegetables, especially of the leafy type, and of fruits for their mineral salts and vitamins—especially the anti-neuritic vitamines—and for their laxative effect, should be taken. Oatmeal is advised as a cereal, cooked the way the Scotch cook it in the dish they call brose.

The oatmeal is stirred into boiling water and allowed to boil for ten minutes or so, until it thickens. In this way the starch is not cooked thoroughly, and some of the uncooked starch reaches the lower bowels, furnishing a good ground for the growth of the fermentative bacteria. Raw carrots are especially good in this non-toxic diet. A good-sized dish of raw carrots make a delicious salad if they are ground and served with a little cream dressing rather than oil. A big dish of this could be taken with benefit every day.

A whole book could be written on the subject of diet in auto-intoxication, so it is diffcult to cover very much of it in a single article. However, I hope I have given you enough information to be of some help.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

WHAT LOVE IS THE MOST BEAUTIFUL?

What is the most beautiful love in the world?

A silly question, of course, as if there were not one glory of the stars and another glory of the moon and another of the sun, all different and all equally beautiful in their way.

Nevertheless, we do like to find some definite object to award our superlatives to, and that is a question I have often heard asked.

Usually mother love gets the palm.

The Darby-Joan Variety

Again I have heard it given to the love of Darby and Joan, the love from which passion has passed and in which only tenderness remains: "—always the same, Darby, my own; always the same to your old wife, Joan."

And yet again to the love of two men friends. Do you remember David to Jonathan: "Thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women."

But I have asked the old question because I have a new competitor for the palm.

Father and Daughter Love

The love of a father for his young daughter.

Almost every man wants a son, when he is looking forward to the great event for the first time.

And there is a certain satisfaction in having a family commence with a son who shall be the beloved elder brother to the rest.

But I doubt if the deep pride a man feels in that first son is quite the equal of the tremendous tenderness, the adoration almost, that he feels for the first daughter. Again a case of one glory of the stars, and so forth.

The father who is strictness itself with his son can frequently be wound around her tiny little finger by the first baby girl.

How many mothers we know complain that they cannot do anything with their daughters because the fathers spoil them so! While at the same time they say that father is too strict with the son.

I have even known mothers who were almost jealous of their daughters because it seemed to them the father cared more for the child than the mother.

An unworthy feeling, of course, since it is so often the mother's young self that the father adores in his daughter.

A Reincarnation

To him she is a reincarnation of the love of his youth, and he can love her with a sort of lyrical adoration without detracting one whit from the deep tenderness he has for the other half of his life.

Happy, indeed, the woman whose husband will take his romance that way.

It is of such a companionship I was thinking when I lauded the love between father and daughter. I know several such cases where the daughter is a second sweetheart to her father; and I know of no prettier picture than the sight of the two of them on the tennis courts together, swimming together, dancing together, each adoring and each adored by the other.

EAGLE ROCK

PLAN SLOGAN IN C. OF C. CONTEST

Campaign Details Will Be Announced Tonight at Public Gathering

"Eagle Rock, the Homeland," is the slogan that the Chamber of Commerce will undoubtedly adopt in launching the drive for membership, according to the organizers who have taken charge of the work.

All is in readiness to receive a large attendance at the meeting which is being given tonight at the women's club house. Rev. George P. Taubman, pastor of the First Christian church of Long Beach, is to be the main speaker.

Plans for the campaign, and the teams to do the work of securing members, will be arranged at this meeting. Stevenson and Schoube, who have undertaken the work of organization, have both expressed confidence in the success of the campaign, and are planning to make every member a booster for its success.

Invitations have been sent to more than 500 residents of Eagle Rock and it is expected that at least 200 will be present to hear the plans.

Memorial Library

A memorial library, to cost over $100,000, is now being erected at Occidental college, and ground will soon be broken for an outdoor theatre, for which nature has admirably provided on the college campus.

Such are the plans of the trustees of the college, as brought out at their last meeting, which disclosed that the $500,000 recently announced to have been raised would pay for these improvements, among other things.

And now plans are complete for the raising of the additional $2,000,000 endowment fund, to be used in the construction of an administration building, a woman's dormitory, a chapel, gymnasium, science building and social hall.

From which it appears that Eagle Rock is to have in Occidental college an institution of higher learning second to none in the southwest.

Double Celebration

Miss Marjorie Ball and Mrs. Paul Elderkin celebrated their birthdays jointly last week, with a huge wiener bake given at the highest point of Ellenwood drive. As Mrs. Elderkin is the soloist of the choir of the Congregational church, the choir was invited to be present, among numerous other guests. Shirley Allen, leader of the community singing of the Congregational church, furnished part of the entertainment through telling Bible stories.

Harold Connett, popular member of the younger set of Eagle Rock, purchased a new roadster yesterday.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Young, 916 Rock Glen, was the scene of a delightful party Saturday afternoon, given for Maldah Myers, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Myers, who have been making their home at Ellis court for the past few months, but who are leaving shortly for Illinois.

Fourteen children were present to take part in the birthday celebration. Harold Downs won the prize in the games that occupied the better part of the afternoon. Delicious refreshments were served under the pergola, where wild flowers of many varieties added to the attractiveness of the table laden with goodies.

Mrs. Sam Wisdom, of 127 South Royal drive, entertained a group of friends at her beautiful home Saturday evening. Dancing formed the evening's entertainment. Delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Wisdom prepared a dainty buffet luncheon.

Mrs. Alice Winters, prominent worker of the Congregational church, entertained twelve members of the Young Matrons' club at her home Saturday.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and friends from all parts of Los Angeles are to journey to Glendale for the celebration, which is predicted will be one of the largest gatherings ever held in the city.

Mystery Boy Again Lands In Hospital

Carl F. Goodnow

Carl F. Goodnow, the "boy wanderer," twice the victim of mysterious injuries, is once more in the Massachusetts General Hospital, in Boston. He said something about being struck while walking on a lonely road, but could tell no more before he became unconscious. Three years ago he was struck by a baseball, amnesia resulting, during which he refused to go to school, ran away from home and tramped all over the United States and Mexico.

FERBER TO OPEN STORE THURSDAY

Local Establishment First Of Series Planned In Southland Towns

Work on the new store that is to be opened Thursday, April 26, by Ferber's at 108 North Brand boulevard, is being rushed to an early completion, and the last touches are being added to the front in order to have it ready for the hour of opening, which has been set at 9 o'clock.

The store is being prepared for the receipt of merchandise and everything is speeding up for the completion of the work on time. The store has been entirely remodeled, both inside and out, and supplied with modern, new and up-to-date fixtures. There has been installed a Lamson cash carrier system for the transmission of money to the central desk. The rear of the store will be devoted to the display and sale of ready-to-wear, with fitting rooms adjoining.

The entire interior has been finished in ivory and mahogany and the windows are being finished in two tones of ivory. A large electric sign has been installed to adorn the front and every modern device for the proper handling and conduct of a department store has been installed.

First of Series

The Glendale store is the first of a series of stores to be opened and operate by the A. Ferber Company, Inc., and their plans for 1923 call for the establishment of additional stores at Long Beach, Pasadena, Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton. Harry Gladstone is to assume personal charge as manager of the Glendale store. Mr. Gladstone has a record for being a high caliber, courteous and progressive merchant, and his experience well qualifies him to take charge of the Glendale establishment.

The purchasing being concentrated at one point gives the A. Ferber Company, Inc., buying power which will enable them to compete favorably with the lowest prices offered in Southern California, it is claimed.

Lobbying Officials Face Cut In Salary

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—State officials will be "docked" a day's pay for every day they are "caught" lobbying about the capitol, according to a new edict issued by Governor Richardson. The statement said:

Governor Richardson today notified the body of control to keep a strict watch on the employes who are guilty of offensive lobbying, and to cut their pay for all days which are spent in lobbying. This will curb the activites of A. R. Heron, deputy director of education; Sam H. Cohn, another school deputy, and Edwin R. Snyder, a commissioner of education. Attorney Graupner, of the industrial accident commission, has already been called home, and Paul Scharrenberg has been removed as a commissioner of immigration and housing for their activities against the economy program.

BURBANK

VERDUGO SCOUTS AT ROUND TABLE

Troop Leaders Hold Banquet At Country Club to Discuss Plans

The "Knights of the Roundtable" gathered as of old, last night, at the Sunset Canyon Country club, and "King Arthur's Court" was brought down to the twentieth century, it being the first annual banquet of the Troopleaders' Roundtable, Verdugo Hills District Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Something of the old-time chivalry was there, and in addition a strictly modern note—service.

The splendid program following the banquet included addresses by several Burbank representatives, among them Rev. T. F. Allen, who offered the invocation, and Leonard F. Collins, who talked on "The Scoutmaster's Job as I See It."

E. B. Thomas and Dr. E. H. Wilson gave two of the several one-minute talks.

The meeting was a noteworthy one, being largely attended and showing an amazing growth in Scouting, not only in Burbank but throughout the Verdugo Hills district.

Protest Assessment

The boundaries of the assessment district for the opening of Third street are in dispute and a petition has been prepard and is being circulated among the citizens of the district.

Individuals state that they hold no objection to the opening of the street, but, rather to the levy that such opening makes necessary. At first, they point out, it was proposed to pay for the land by popular subscription. This plan, however, has been abandoned, it appears, on the grounds that business men have already been overburdened with popular subscriptions.

The Board of Trustees, finally concluded that those in the line of benefit should bear this expense, but the protestants argue that the expense should therefore be borne by the entire city.

So the matter rests—or, as a matter of fact, does not rest but continues to agitate the district.

Among structures rapidly nearing completion is the new building of the First Baptist church, which members plan to dedicate some time within the first half of May. A feature of the construction is that individual class rooms for the Bible school are distributed around and back of the main auditorium, furnishing in this way compactness and large capacity.

Tiny Tots Entertain

The younger pupils of Mrs. Zefer Algois Sparrow presented a recital in the auditorium of the Thomas A. Edison school last Friday night, April 20, giving an entertaining program of numbers that were very well received.

Those who took part in the program were Misses Barbara Moore, Olive Fainot, Margaret Wood, Frances Riley, Mae Fischer, Isabel Moore, Nora Olson, Jeanette Blanchard, and Masters Temple Matthews and Russell Reed.

A recital by Mrs. Sparrow's older pupils is announced for Friday, May 4, at the Edison school.

One of the features of the benefit dance for Company 1, the 160th Infantry, to be held at the Palais Majestic, the night of Wednesday, April 25, through the courtesy of Manager Evans will be the presentation of the colors, the company flag and national flag to Company 1, by Mr. Evans, for their new armory.

Bank Robbery in P-E-P

The amssed attention of Burbank is beginning to focus on the forthcoming production, "P-E-P," or "Our Home Town," which is scheduled for the nights of Thursday and Friday of this week, April 26-27, in the auditorium of the Edison school.

So declare members of the Order of the Mystic Smile, under whose auspices the play is being produced, and they give for their grounds that it will be a big success the deposition. "It is one full-fledged riot of laughs, thrills and surprises, as well as artistic concert numbers, a wonderful business stimulant and something that will wrestle the old grouch over on its back, dead!"

"There must be something back of their talk, for the local merchants have investigated the deposition and declare it to be truthful. Hence they are giving the Smile boys their hearty support.

One of the spectacular scenes of "P-E-P" is said to be the robbery of the Home Town bank. By means of modern electrical apparatus, the crook actually makes a forcible entry into the steel vault, while the audience sits gasping, it is hoped.

Another big feature will be an act called "The Spirit of California," said to be one of the finest things of its kind ever produced. The idea, portrayed by Miss Hebe de Ronden-Pos, is a three-scene tableau — Flowers, Fruit, Sunshine—with elaborate scenic effects, showing the "Spirit" from the poppy, nourished by the grape, until it reaches the "Golden Hour," when it sinks to rest in the Pacific.

"Sorta subtile!" some say, and "Just too sweet for anything!" say others. And the way the tickets are going, it is reported, there's gong to be a big time at the Edison school Thursday and Friday nights.

Tickets for "P-E-P" are for sale at all the local merchants.

PARIS, April 24.—Crowds greater than those of Armistice Day lined the streets and followed the body of the "Divine Sarah" to her austere tomb on the little hill-top in the Pere Lachaise Cemetery. No ostentatious monument to the dead is hers, simply a solid, grey French granite block imposed upon a stern-cut base, with a semi-circular arch cut in each face and on top a shallow-roofed slab; within is a carved stone sarcophagus; that is all. No ornamentations and no inscriptions. On the side facing west, carved in plain black letters, is the one word "Bernhardt." Time has already mellowed the stone and the edges are soft. Once a year, on All Saints' Day, Sarah made her pilgrimage to her last resting place and laid her little bouquet of flowers on the tomb, meditating on what had passed between the last All Saints' Day and the present one, no more than life. She who passed her days amid the world's brightest footlights has thus begun her last sleep in a most obscure and discreet spot.

Daughter of a wandering family of Bohemians, the date and place of the birth of the great actress has ever been a point of discussion with her biographers. For a long time she believed it to have been a little house in the Latin Quarter. Later she had good reasons to believe that it was in the Rue St. Honore. Her birth certificate was probably lost in the fire of 1871 during the Commune.

At an early age she showed a thirst for complications and the need of feverish activity, which remained with her till her last days. When five years old she threatened to throw herself from a window. Perched in a chestnut tree, she declared she would remain there until she died. Later she escaped from her convent and was brought back by the officers of Satory. But for the quick wit of her old Breton nurse she might never have seen the stage. When but a child she fell from her chair into the fireplace and received horrible burns upon her cheeks and forehead. The doctor was at a loss to know what to do and doubted if he could save her eyes.

"Don't worry," said the good nurse, "I'll heal her myself."

And, in fact, with indefatigable patience, the peasant applied great plasters of fresh butter several times a day which produced most happy results after a short time.

Like Napoleon, she knew neither fatigue nor want of sleep. Upon making up her mind to play Shakespeare in English she sent for a professor.

"I wish to learn English very rapidly," she told her. "I can take a lesson daily but for only one-half an hour."

"That will be sufficient," replied the professor.

"But I must ask you one thing—you must give me the lesson between 2 and 2:30 in the morning, for that is my only free hour in the day."

All the arts interested the great tragedienne. In 1874 she was admitted to the Salon des Champs Elysees and during several years exposed numerous pieces of sculpture, among them the bust of Mademoiselle Louise Abbema, "Apres la Tempete," "Ophelie," a bas-relief; "Coquelin, Cadet," a bust. At the time when the new casino of Monte Carlo was built she composed an allegory of music and submitted it to the architect, Garnier, who refused it.

Besides her "Memoires," which were published several years ago, she wrote "Impressions d'Une Chaise," the story of her ascension in a balloon; "L'Aveu," a drama in one act played at the Odeon in 1888, and "Adrienne Lecoucreur," which she played many times.

For music she perhaps had less talent, but she possessed two Ingres violins and played well enough in her youth.

A lover of animals, she counted three or four small Pomeranians among her household together with a large St. Bernard. In her bedroom was the famous talking parrot which furnished her much amusement until the little monkey "Jacqueline" usurped the place of honor. This was during the turning of the film during the last weeks of Sarah's life. The intelligent animal acted as the servant of Madame, who fondled it like a child and wanted it constantly near her.

"More cakes for Jacqueline," she would say at tea time. "Just one more banana," and the trainer-owner, looking on fearfully, would be compelled to pocket the food himself in order to save the life of his monkey—his own "daily bread."

In the matter of clothes she preferred heavy stuffs to modern fancies, rich brocades and silks embroidered with gems or in white lilies, such as the celebrated white gown she wore as Francesca da Rimini, where she reminded one of the Pallas of Botticelli. These were the lilies of France, which she loved more than any other flower, and with them she decorated her famous rosewood coffin, which, during the last thirty years served as her coffret of love letters.

Mrs. Robert Howard Gambel Secures Divorce

Mrs. Robert Howard Gambel, of New York, has been granted a Paris divorce. The Gambels, one of the most prominent families in New York society life, were married in 1918, just after Mr. Gambel left the army, in which he was an aviator, winning the Croix de Guerre. Mrs. Gambel's parents were lost on the Lusitania, after putting her in a lifeboat. Just before they sailed, her mother, Mrs. Allen D. Loney, made a will in which she left $1,500,000 to the daughter.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY HELPS JOHNNY LOOK

"Whoo! Hoo Whoo; Hoo!" called a jolly voice outside the hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Nurse Jane, I think that is some one after you," said Uncle Wiggily, who was twinkling his pink nose to get ready to go out and look for adventures.

"Some one for me calling that way? Nonsense! Who could it be?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Well, I thought perhaps it might be Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, or Mrs. Wibblewobble, the lady duck, calling you to come out to go to the moving pictures, or something like that," said Uncle Wiggily, as he made his necktie straight.

"The idea! I guess when my lady friends call for me, in that Wild Indian way I'll know it," spoke Nurse Jane sort of sniffy and snippy like. "It's probably for you, Wiggy!"

Just then the voice called again! "Whoo-oo; Whoo-oo! Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Are you coming out?"

"There! What did I tell you?" cried Nurse Jane, satisfied like.

"It's Johnnie Bushytail, the squirrel," said Uncle Wiggily, rather diffident and humble, as he looked from the window. "I suppose he's going to school, and, very kindly, he stopped for me."

"You don't mean to tell me you're going to school—at your age?" exclaimed Nurse Jane.

"No, but I'm going adventuring, and I may as well hop along with Johnnie toward school, as far as he goes," said the rabbit gentleman, and out of the bungalow he skipped, while Nurse Jane shook her head, saying:

"He gets worse and worse, and younger and younger. Well, I suppose there is no help for it." Then she began giving her dishes their morning bath, while Uncle Wiggily hopped along with the squirrel boy.

They had not gone very far before Johnnie chattered and said: "Uncle Wiggily, I wish you'd help me look this morning."

"Help you look, Johnnie, what do you mean?" asked the bunny gentleman. "Do you want me to help you look through your school books, to make sure you have your lessons?"

"No, thank you, not exactly that," answered Johnnie. "But in a grove of trees, not far from the hollow stump school, I buried some hickory nuts in the ground last fall. Now I'd like to dig them up and eat them, but I don't just remember where I hid them, and I wish you would help me look for them."

"I will," kindly promised Uncle Wiggily, and when they reached the grove, not far from school, Uncle Wiggily and Johnnie went searching over the ground, looking amid the dried leaves for the hidden nuts. Squirrels often bury nuts when they don't care to eat them right away, and often they forget where the nuts are hidden.

"Have you found any yet, Johnnie?" asked Uncle Wiggily, after a while.

"No, have you?" inquired Johnnie.

"Not a one," answered the bunny uncle. "Perhaps, Johnnie, you didn't hide any nuts here at all."

"Oh, yes, I'm sure I did. Let's hunt a little longer. It isn't time for school yet."

But whether any nuts were hidden in the grove, or not, something else was hidden there, and it was the bad Bob Cat. The Bob Cat was out early that morning, looking for ears. And when he saw Uncle Wiggily and Johnnie coming toward the nut grove, the Bob Cat said:

"I'll dig a hole in the leaves and hide myself. And when they get here I'll jump out and grab Ungle Wiggily." So the Bob Cat hid himself under the leaves and brown, dried pine needles.

Then, all of a sudden, as Johnnie was poking around among the leaves, he uncovered something that, at first, he thought was a nut. But when the squirrel boy looked a scond time he saw it was the knobby end of the Bob Cat's tail. Without say a word Johnnie went softly over to where Uncle Wiggily was looikng around in the leaves.

"Uncle Wiggily!" whispered Johnnie, "I guess maybe there aren't any nuts here, but the Bob Cat is here, for I just uncovered the tip end of his tail. If we go away softly now he won't hear us."

"Fine!" whispered the bunny. "We'll go!" And they went out of the grove so softly that the Bob Cat never heard them depart. And he kept on waiting and waiting and waiting for a chance to spring out at them. And when, finally, he got tired of waiting and popped out—why, Uncle Wiggily was safely back in his bungalow and Johnnie was in school.

"Fooled again!" howled the Bob Cat, gnashing his teeth.

And if the strawberry shortcake doesn't go swimming in the lemonade without its umbrella, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and how his ceiling fell.

SCIENCE and INVENTION

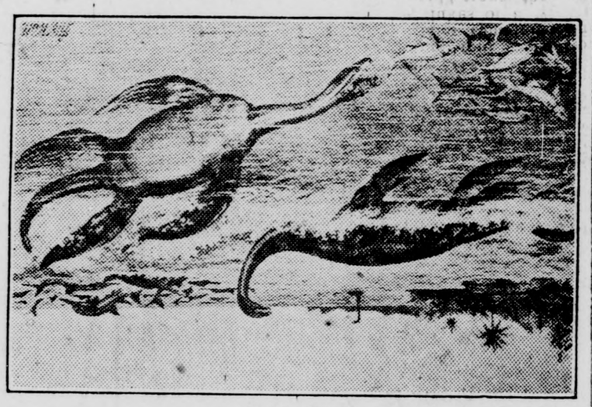
HUNTING THE PLESIOSAUR

Naturalists laughed at the report, not long ago so widely circulated, that a plesiosaur had been seen in a Patagonian lake, alive. A scientific expedition was dispatched from Buenos Aires to hunt the monster, whatever it may have been—the idea being that the tale had some sort of basis in fact—but no well-informed person believed that it could be a reptile of any such prehistoric species.



Plesiosaurs

To call it pre-historic is to put the case mildly, inasmuch as the last of the plesiosaurs probably passed off the earth more than 5,000,000 years ago. As for the alfeged discovery of a surviving specimen in a lake, one should remember that the animal in question did not live in fresh water; it was exclusively marine.

When in these days naturalists go hunting for plesiosaurs, they know where to find plenty of them. Of their bones, that is to say. For anciently they literally swarmed in the shallow sea which, during what is called the Cretaceous period covered Texas, Kansas, Colorado and states north, extending all the way from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic ocean.

They were huge fish-eating lizards, attaining a length of thirty feet. In shape the plesiosaur has been likened to a snake threaded through the body of a trutle. It had a very long neck, a relatively short tail, and four powerful swimming paddles somewhat resembling the flukes of a whale. Doubtless it could travel through water at tremendous speed.

It was, in short, a lizard of prey, strong, exceedingly active, and with a fierce equipment of teeth for seizing and tearing. Principal among its rivals was the ichthyosaur, another fish-eating reptile, but the latter was not much more than half as big. Both species must have been vastly numerous, judging from the quantities of their bones which have been dug up.

Now and then it happened that the body of a defunct plesiosaur, sinking to the bottom of the shallow Cretaceous sea, was covered with mud or sand in such a way as to preserve the skeleton, keeping it from going to pieces. When, in the course of ages, the water dried up and disappeared, the skeleton remained, and thus today it may be dug out of the rocks into which the sand or mud has been converted.

Along the eastern flank of the Rocky mountains, in Wyoming and elsewhere, great numbers of plesiosaur skeletons are thus found, most of them fragmentary, but occasionally entire. Which, of course, is the reason why so much is definitely known about those monstrous sea-lizards of long ago.

CURRENT CONTROL

In electrical work, especially in radio, the need is constantly arising for adjusting a current to a specified value. This is usually done by varying the resistance of the current. Changes in resistance are generally made by means of resisters, which consist in general of single resistance units, or groups of such units made of suitable material. These may be made variable—in fact, they usually are variable in radio practice, or they may be fixed in value. Variable resisters are sometimes called "resistance boxes" or "rheostats," depending upon the current carrying capacity, range and form.

A resistance box consists of a group of coils of wire assembled compactly in a frame or box. It is so arranged that a single coil or any combination of coils may be introduced into the circuit by manipulating the switches or plugs. The extreme range of such an instrument may be from a hundredth of an ohm, up to 100,000 ohms. An "ohm" is the unit of resistance, and will be discussed at greater length in a succeeding article. Each of the component units is accurately standardized and marked with its resistance value. By this means it is possible to know precisely what resistance is introduce into the circuit by the resistance box. The coils are wound with fine wire, and in such a way that there are no appreciable magnetic fields about them. They are intended solely for carrying feeble currents, usually no more than a fraction of an ampere.

A continuation of this subject, "Current Control," dealing with resistance units and materials used in their making, will follow in succeeding articles.

SPORTS

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Football coach "Hurry-up Yost" in a talk to an audience of schoolboys sounded the keynote of the way in which sports now are being conducted in the majority of institutions of learning and it shows a tremendous moral advance over conditions that existed two decades ago, concerning which this writer is familiar having been actively interested in athletics at the time.

Yost told the lads that the present day institution had no use for men who were merely athletes without the requisite upper story to remain in college and keep up in their scholastic work. He stated that no matter how proficient a boy might be as an athlete he was no use to his institution unless he were capable of maintaining his place in his studies.

Middle aged men who were athletes 25 years ago will doubtless sustain the contention that this was not the spirit of that time. It is well known that a good football, baseball or track athlete was sought because of his ability in his particular branch of sport with little regard to his moral or mental status.

It is a great step forward and one that must be commended on all sides and simply goes to show that we are progressing and that sportsmanship and sentiment are taking their places alongside with the mere idea of winning which has so long cursed American athletics.

It is a noteworthy fact that the wrestling game is in very much the same straits as boxing when it comes to new material to take the place of the old which is evidently becoming considerably worn. There is very little question that men such as Strangler Ed Lewis, Joe Stecher and other present first class men have passed the pinnacle of their prowess and are on the decline.

The only man in the offing at the present time on the mat is Renato Gardini, the Italian heavyweight, who has shown all the earmarks of ability. What he needs more than anything else is experience. He has shown that he is versatile and is not the disciple of any one hold. He uses them all to advantage plus a considerable knowledge of jiu-jitsu which should come in good stead.

While Gardini has been unable to score a win over either Stecher or Lewis, the fact that he has falls against them to his credit speaks well for his ability and it would not be surprising to followers of the game if, at some future date, he topped the list of heavyweights. He has a good head and uses it as well as his natural strength and is showing good sense in trying to diversify his attack instead of depending on one hold such as Lewis' headlock and Stecher's body scissors. If he becomes champion it is likely that he will be an adept not only in these two holds, but in others.

The Sport Crucible

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 24. — The rain having rained in all other sections of the south this year, the pendulum of favor is expected to swing back to Florida as a training ground for major league clubs next spring. Time was when there was a ball player for every pink flask on the peninsula during the baseball training season, but club owners are restless souls and subject to whims and caprices. Many of them moved on, looking for more customers to conquer. They have lived to regret it.

The Reds, Phillies, Dodgers, Senators, Braves, Indians and Cardinals are Florida-trained and very pleased to admit it. They have come out of the south in excellent condition, and while only the Reds and Cardinals are regarded as pennant contenders, all of them figure to do well for at least the first month of the season. After that, the matter will be out of Florida's hands.

A running start is a great thing, however, and a game won in April often counts s much as a victory in September. The Giants, for example, experienced miserable weather during the latter stages of their stay at San Antonio, and the margin of the Reds' allegedly superior condition now might mean the thin, fine line of distinction between a pennant winner and a second runner at the end.

The Yankees suffered almost as grievously at New Orleans, as much from the marked apathy of the populace toward George H. Ruth as from the cold and rain. They probably will train elsewhere next spring and would be certain to go to Florida if brother Ruth proves a box office flop in the meantime. Florida was not particularly interested in Ruth when the Yanks were there in 1920, but Huggins is partial to it as a training ground.

The White Sox, at Seguin, being only thirty-five miles removed from the Giants, had a rather pale blue time of it and may seek pastures new, but the Tigers will stick to Augusta, because Cobb likes it there, and the Cubs to Catalina Island because Wrigley, being his own landlord, never raises the rent.

The Red Sox are likely to remain at Hot Springs, but the contemporaneous Pirates are said to have had an ample sufficiency. The Browns, however, favor a return to Mobile, in spite of uncertain benefits obtained there this spring, while the intentions of Connie Mack are just a bit obscure, as always.

NEW YORK, April 24.—For the most part the major league pennant races are running more or less according to the late Mr. Hoyle, even at this early date. Both New York clubs, generally favored to come through on the bit, except by radical spirits like the writer, are off in front of their respective fields and running as fast as an open spigot. From a New York standpoint, this portion of the race is normalcy itself.

However, teams of more or less worthiness are gracing the first divisions of both leagues, the notable instances being both of the Philadelphia clubs. Of course, early speed is not worth an elderly banana as a general thing, but when Art Fletcher can get a team like the Phillies to win one out of the first three games, tie another and only lose the third because the Dodgers pulled a five run rally in the ninth, he is entitled to a degree of immoderate acclaim.

The Phils probably will come back to their true speed with all due haste. The same thing is hoped for the Pittsburg Pirates and the Chicago White Sox in the National and American leagues respectively. They are the horrible examples of the first week of the 1923 season.

Both figured to be fairly well heeled with pitchers. Neither has managed to muster a well pitched game to date, however, and are residing in or near the cellar. The case of the Pirates was not exactly unforeseen as they had terrible weather at Hot Springs and are hardly in top form, but the White Sox had carried the Giants to the final of a sixteen game series before capitulating and were expected to get away running in the American league race. That they have not is one of the uncertainties that makes baseball the great national sport.

Student Mat Artists Stage Thrilling Tournament in Gymnasium

Athletic Day was observed yesterday as a portion of Play Week under the auspices of Community Service.

Charles Thompson threw Jack Stoeckl in the 115 pound weight; Masuri Horii threw Robert Searle in the 125 pound weight; Teed Haig threw Robert Potts in the 135 pound weight; Cyril Walton threw Teed Haig in the 145 pound weight; Cyril Walton threw Dick Wall in the 158 pound weight; Harry Fish threw Larry Dotson in the 175 pound weight.

An exhibition three-round boxing bout was put on by Jack Stoeckl, who was given the decision, and Arthur Palmer.

The high school freshmen track team yesterday afternoon journeyed to the Glendale Avenue Intermediate playground and defeated a team composed of boys from both intermediate schools. The score was 44 to 15. Events resulted as follows:

Hundred yard dash—Francis Moffitt, freshman; Lipstru, intermediate; Walter Butler, freshman.

JOHNSON WINNER IN JERSEY BOUT

Poor Showing by Both Men Gives Iowa Fighter Willard Battle

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, April 24.—Being distinctly the lesser of two evils, Floyd Johnson, packing the punch of a milady's powder puff, will go on against Jess Willard in the feature bout of the milk fund show, as the result of gaining an unofficial decision over Funny Fred Fulton, that strictly neutral gentleman of pugilism, at the Jersey City armory last night. A jury of boxing critics, representing five New York morning newspapers, voted unanimously that Johnson won easily. He did.

But what they neglected to mention was the fact that if Johnson had the punch of a welterweight or Fulton anything but the heart of a gazelle, the fight would never have gone the limit of twelve bar-room rounds.

In our labored way we are attempting to convey the thought the principals were and are a couple of tramps. But words fail us. They out-tramp the field.

Johnson, fighting a rushing, rapid-fire battle from the first, dropped Fulton with a left hook to the head in the opening round and although he hit Frederick on that fragile jaw of his with everything except his foot throughout the remainder of the fight, the plasterer never again forsook the perpendicular. A clean, man-sized waliop in the first, third, fourth, seventh, tenth or eleventh rounds would have finished Fulton, but Johnson just did not have it.

So much for Johnson. As for Funny Fred, he was the usual, methodical, cautious, slow moving picture of other days.

Woman Fires Pistol At Fleeing Burglar

Mrs. Fred Manning, of 424 West Palmer avenue, awoke at 4 o'clock this morning by sounds of some one trying to break into her home. She arose and, picking up a revolver, hurried to the door. The man, who was outside, was warned of her approach and fled. She fired three shots after him, but he failed to stop.

KNOCKED SENSELESS

Catching a foot in the wheel of his bicycle, Richard Pettinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Pettinger of 203 West Elk avenue, was thrown to the pavement about 8:15 o'clock last night and knocked senseless. He regained consciousness in a short time, however, and was assisted to his home by Officer C. B. Blake. The accident occurred near the intersection of Brand boulvard and Wilson avnue.

FOREST FIRE RAGES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 24.—A forest fire, which started today on the outskirts of Bargaintown, a village twelve miles from here, was gaining rapidly this afternoon. It was fanned by a stiff northwest wind. Rapid progress was being made toward McKee City. Farms and residences are in its path.

RENTAL DEPARTMENT

Smith & Babcock of 204 East Broadway have opened a rental department in connection with their real estate business. Mrs. A. G. Moore, well known in Glendale, is to have complete charge of this department.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

Mrs. M. W. Pourie of 343 El Bonita avenue, who has been ill, has returned home from the Glendale Research Hospital.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

In "The Girl I Loved," Mr. Ray portrays a lover impelled by an ardor that amounts almost to fierceness. The appearance of a rival in his path creates situations that lead to one of the most powerful dramas ever filmed.

The picture is a First National attraction, directed by Joseph De Grasse, from a story based on a poem by James Whitcomb Riley, telling of his own love affair.

The events take place in rural Indiana of 1840-60, and the life of the happy, care-free Americans of that period, now highly picturesque, is admirably portrayed. Photographic credit for this beautiful film goes to George Rizard, Mr. Ray's famous French cinematographer.

$100 REWARD!

STOLEN from the desk of the subscription department of The Glendale Evening News, at 139 South Brand boulevard, Glendale, between the hours of 5 p. m. Saturday, April 21, 1923, and 6 o'clock a. m. Monday, April 23, 1923, proof copies of a part of The Glendale News subscription list and other newspaper subscription records.

A reward of $100 is offered for the return of these records, together with evidence sufficient to convict the party or parties committing the theft.

VICTORY SWINGS TO BUDGET FOES

Assembly Votes Funds for Two Projects; Veto Is Predicted

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, Calf., April 24.—Domestics and women will rule any house, it would seem from the performance in the California Assembly.

Miss Eleanor Miller, Pasadena assemblywoman, early today won by a unanimous viva voce vote her $191,000 amendment to Richardson's budget recommendations for the Sonoma Industrial Farm for delinquent women. The first roll call on the right to amend carried 55 to 21, the second clear-cut break in the administration forces. First to score was Alex McMillan, Democrat, from San Luis Obispo county, who by 45 to 27 carried appropriations to the extent of $129,000 for the California Polytechnic school in his home county. Surprising as it may seem, such administration men as Charles Foster, Henry Carter and Speaker Frank Merriam voted for these increases. It is being said that this repaid McMillan for voting for Merriam as speaker. That's where the politics comes in and wins the bacon.

The California club women's crusade was noticeable in the case of Sonoma Industrial Farm. Even Frank C. Weller of Glendale had heard the old, old story of society being its sister's keeper and who could resist the emotion of Miss Miller, or Mrs. Saylor, or the Rev. Dr. Williams, or Van Bernard, who used to save souls in the streets. It was too much.

Opposition melted and midnight found the assembly in the mood to heed the sirens' cry for humble pie. The modern Magdalenes desire a home in the country far away from the vice and crime and dope and intoxication of scintillant cities by the sea.

Assembly Falls

Rehabilitation of the Sonoma Home destroyed by fire, reclaiming of lost souls fast burning in eternal blazes, and the state to pay the way. It was so simple, just like falling off Eagle Rock, and the Assembly fell like a landslide.

Earlier in the legislative day the San Jose, Santa Barbara and Fresno state teachers' colleges won varying sums by bare majorities, while Chico and San Diego colleges lost in the appropriation shuffle. Today Speaker Merriam announced there are 15 more amendments offered for consideration and it will be a game of "Put and Take," mostly take, until the governor puts his foot on the whole business.

The Senate yesterday ratified the Los Angeles crime commission bills passed by the assembly and these are now en route to the governor for signature. A few real things are being accomplished in the upper house while the greater group of pork seekers in the assembly are diving into the depths of delinquency and arising to the ethereal heights of higher education.

And the best news of the day is the fact that correspondents will have only three more weeks of misery if adjournment is taken the day solons' pay stops, May 14.

FUN REVUE WILL BE GIVEN AGAIN

Community Artists to Play At High School in Free Performance

The "Fun Revue" will be presented again on Thursday night, May 3, announces Mrs. Nanno Woods, director of the Glendale Community Players. The Community Service officers were so pleased with the beauty and wholesomeness of the "Fun Revue" when it was presented last week at the Tuesday Afternoon Club under the auspices of the American Legion, that they have asked the Glendale Community Players to repeat this musical comedy at the Glendale high school auditorium for the benefit of the citizens of Glendale, in order that they may not only enjoy a pleasant evening but that they may realize what an asset the Community Players are to the community in furnishing clean, wholesome entertainment.

The Community Players have consented to present this enjoyable musical comedy and give every citizen an opportunity to enjoy a pleasant evening free. There will be no charge of admission, as it will be given in connection with the Glendale Community Service organization of which R. E. Tucker is director.

Chamber of Commerce Night at San Gabriel

The management of the Mission Play that is being presented at San Gabriel have set aside next Saturday night, April 28, as Chamber of Commerce night, and all members of such organizations will be accorded special rates of admission. Anyone from Glendale who presents himself at the box office and announces himself as being from the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will be admitted to one of the best seats in the house for $1.10.

BANK'S QUARTERS TO BE ENLARGED

Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Will Erect An Eleven Story Building

As a result of a contract worked out by the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank, Desmonds and the Columbia Investment Company of Los Angeles, the bank will build a new class-A eleven-story unit next to the present banking quarters of its central office in Los Angeles, on the ground now occupied by Desmonds' clothing store. Under this plan, the present banking quarters will be more than doubled. The first and second floors of the new building will be occupied by the bank while the nine stories above will be given over to general office use.

The new bank building to be constructed will follow the lines of the present Trust & Savings Building occupied by the bank while the nine stories above will be given over to general office use.

The new bank building to be constructed will follow the lines of the present Trust & Savings Building occupied by the bank and will constitute an additional unit of that building. On the north the new unit of the bank building will join buildings to be constructed by the Mercantile Arcade Realty Company, and an arcade from Sixth Street will connect with an arcade to be built over Mercantile place.

Will Start Soon

As soon as the new Desmond Building on Broadway can be erected, the present structure occupied by Desmonds will be wrecked and the new bank building will be built thereon.

The Trust & Savings Building, which is one of the outstanding architectural features of the city, is inadequate for the present needs of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank. The building was designed to house a banking institution with approximately $10,000,000 resources. Today the resources of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank alone total more than $153,000,000 while the aggregate resources of The First National Bank of Los Angeles, The Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank and the First Securities Company total more than $243,000,000. Much of the executive work of the entire Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank group of banks is at present crowded into the Trust & Savings Building, and the building of a second unit of this structure will enable the bank to handle its business in a much more efficient manner.

NEW RESTAURANT OPENS TOMORROW

Golden Spanish Cafe Will Specialize on Dishes of Old Madrid

The formal opening of the Golden Spanish Cafe at 111 South Orange street, which is scheduled for tomorrow evening, will launch another house of entertainment in Glendale that will have a distinct atmosphere of its own and that will bring to the epicures of the city a foreign note that will heighten immeasurably the joys of dining out. The first event to take place within the new restaurant will be a luncheon at noon tomorrow, at which seventy-five Shriners will be present, and in the evening those who have made reservations will be given another event from which to date time in Glendale.

The outstanading note of the Golden Spanish Cafe is its coziness and its seclusion. On the north side of the cafe there are a number of booths, with rich hangings of red velvet to shut out the gaze of the curious and to permit that intimacy that is so much to be desired in a tete-a-tate dinner or luncheon, while the large dining room on the south side is decorated with paintings that carry one, like a magic carpet, into the atmosphere of Old Madrid and that harmonize so delightfully with the Spanish and Mexican cuisine that is the principal characteristic of the house.

In a secluded alcove in the main dining room is a baby grand piano where the guests of the Golden Spanish Cafe may have their own selections played as they dine, while the handsome furniture, so different from that usually seen in cafes, and the subdued lights, lend an air of refinement that cannot but be soothing to the guests.

The seating capacity of the establishment is one hundred, and Charles Reinecke, the manager, is looking forward confidently to serving capacity houses every day. The lure of the spicy Spanish cuisine, serving dishes that are foreign to so many Glendale people, is one of the strongest attractions of the establishment and one on which Manager Reinecke expects to build the greatest part of his patronage, and the eagerness with which reservations have been made for tomorrow night augurs well for the success of the venture.

The president also paid his respects to the decadence of the American political system, which he attributed is due in no small measure to the growth of the primary system.

"We have gotten away from the representative system," he said. "We have come to the time when a party platform is regarded by too many men in public life as even less important than a scrap of paper, and groups or blocs are turned to to serve group interests * * * while contempt for party caucus and conference has sent party loyalty pretty much into the discard.

"Nowadays, in too many states, party adherence is flouted, loyalty is held to be contemptible, nominations are often influenced by voters enrolled under an opposing party banner and platforms are the insincere utterances of expediency, influenced by nominees, rathan than by advocates of principles.

ELKS' NEW PIANO GETS INITIATION

20 New Members Elected At Regular Meeting of Local Lodge

The big feature at the Elks meeting last night was the initiation of the fine new concert grand Knabe piano, recently purchased for use in the lodge rooms.

Following the regular business hour last night an informal social time was enjoyed with music by the lodge orchestra using the new piano.

During the meeting twenty new members were elected, twelve as candidates for initiation, six by transfer and two by reinstatement.

Late in the evening lunch was served and a preview given of the western film, "Tom, Dick and Harry," directed by Harry F. McPherson, member of the Glendale lodge.

At the meeting next Monday night initiation will take place.

Boy Scouts Leaders In Annual Meeting

in the room. He provoked considerable mirth, but in the more serious part of his talk he emphasized with great earnestness that every Scout leader present should bend every effort to solve the older Scout problem.

"To me this is the acid test of Scouting. We need to keep these older boys in Scouting for upon them we are going to depend for our future scout leaders. It is not one man's problem, but each man's problem, and we will do well to consider it very seriously," he said.

The toastmaster called upon Roy L. Kent to say a few words, explaining that Mr. Kent was the daddy of Scouting in the Verdugo Hills district. He asked Mr. Kent point blank if he thought that the efforts spent in behalf of the scout movement was worth while. Mr. Kent came back with a keen testimony of the value of Scouting to the community. He told of the Rotary club boys' week program and how Rotary was behind not only Scouting, but all boys' work 100 per cent.

Short and Snappy

A novel stunt was the ten one-minute speeches which Mr. Ayars said would be run off in twenty minutes. "One Minute in Haines Canyon" was handled by M. E. Hill. "One Minute in the Catalina Camp," C. W. Angier; "One Minute in the Court of Honor," Captain William C. Wattles; "One Minute in the Troop Leaders' Roundtable Meeting," H. B. Robison; "One Minute in the Patrol Leaders' Training Course," E. B. Thomas; "The Best Scout I know," Dr. E. H. Wilson; "The Best Scout Song I know," France Henry; "The Best Scout Stunt I Know," Ray Sanders, and "One Minute As a Pioneer Scout Leader," Robert N. Taylor.

"The boy scout movement is the most positive, active organization in the world for boys," so declared Dennis H. Stovall, popular author of boys' short stories, and Scoutmaster Troop No. 1, Sierra Madre. "There is not a thing negative in the whole Scout program. You can't find a 'don't' anywhere in the curriculum, but instead, everything is 'Come on, boys, let's Go!' I have never seen a bad boy in my life, and what's more I never expect to. Yes, there are boys who go wrong, and plenty of them, but in nine out of ten cases the reason they went wrong in the first place is because no one took an interest in them."

Following Mr. Stovall's stirring talk on the "Pay of the Scoutmaster," a short business session was presided over by M. E. Hill, the retiring chief counciler of the Roundtable. Frank C. Ayars, chairman nominating committee, made a report of the committee, submitting two candidates for each office. Ballots were then distributed and the election for new officers for 1923-24 was on. Here are the tallied returns:

Chief counciler, H. Ben Robison, Scoutmaster Troop No. 2, Glendale; First Counciler, S. V. Jolliffe, Scoutmaster Troop No. 1, Glendale; Second Counciler, A. H. Davis, chairman troop committee No. 1, Glendale; Pep Promoter, Francis J. W. Henry, committeeman Troop No. 2, Glendale.

M. Hill, the retiring chief counciler, was presented a beautiful solid gold miniature first class badge by Benjamin Robison on behalf of the scout leaders to show their appreciation of his services to the Roundtable.

Certificates of leadership were presented to M. E. Hill, H. B. Robison and Frederick Terzp by Captain Wattles on behalf of the Court of Honor.

The meeting closed with all standing and repeating the Scout oath, and then followed the song of "Taps."

Those present at the dinner were, from Glendale: H. B. Howeth, William C. Wattles, Roy L. Kent, Peter L. Ferry, A. E. Baron M. J. Edwards, A. R. Eastman Nelson Dick, H. B. Robison, Robert N. Local Anglers Will Fish Big Bear Lake

J. T. Allen, L. W. Chobe and A. G. Waidlick have been listening to the call of the wild, and next Sunday they will pile into the old bus and head for Big Bear where they will stay until Wednesday, getting in the first two days of the fishing season. For the past week they have been digging up their fishing tackle and hip boots, trying out the old rods to see whether they have lost their whip, laying in a stock of new flies and getting ready to wet a line in the waters of the lake.

Some of their friends are looking forward to a fish dinner when they return, and others will buy next Thursday's dinner at the butcher shop.

SUNLAND BALL TEAM IS CLEANING UP DIVISION

Five Straight Wins Recorded When Athletes Trim Washington Cubs In Sizzling Battle by 9 to 8 Score

IF somebody doesn't get a ball team together that can take the Sunland pastimers, said Sunland will be cleaning up on the whole independent division of the Southern California Baseball Managers' Association. Five straight wins is the way the ticket reads now, three being by very lopsided scores.

The Universal Cubs were the first victims five weeks ago. Then came the Pasadena Giants of midnight hue, who took an awful pasting. The Pico All-Stars managed to keep the score down to 4 to 2, but the Glendale National Guards came in for a smacking that set them back ten years in their lessons. The pretty part of it was that Slats Bradburn, an outfielder by trade and inclination, went in to pitch in an emergency and did a neat job of it, striking out fifteen Guardsmen.

Then along came the Washington Cubs last Sunday and made the bugs happy with some real baseball. For once in the last six weeks Sunland had some real competition.

Sisler did the tossing for Sunland and fared indifferently well. He was in two or three bad places, but smart and snappy work behind him pulled the chestnuts out of the fire. Here is how it happened.

Scored in First

Right in the first inning it began to look like Sunland was going to get an overdue pasting when Duarte, first up for the Cubs, steered his arches to first on a single, took second on a passed ball and third on a wild pitch. Kaller struck out, but Baxter squeezed Duarte home for the first counter. Baxter took second and Aguilar was safe at first when Phillips juggled Aguilar's grass cutter.

Morowitz forced Baxter at third. Brenton singled filling the bases. Lee looked 'em over and walked on four wide ones, forcing Aguilar in with the second counter.

Sunland did nothing in their first and the Cubs did the same in their second. In the last of the second Sisler led off and was hit by a pitched ball. He stole second and then third. Bradburn flew out.

Dutch Brandstetter, the hitless wonder, took an ankle excursion on four wide ones. Dutch had a field day at bat, getting three walks and a strike out in four times up, which should be a record for something or other. Dutch hasn't got a hit since Babe Ruth won a world series game with a home run.

Petrotta sacrificed Sisler home and Dutch scored when Kaller booted Minter's bounder. Minter was out trying to take second. This tied the score. It was untied and tied again later, like your shoe lace when the pup gets after it.

In the third the Cubs made a bid but two robbers took the gravy away from them. Baxter struck out. Mike Aguilar popped one high back of short labeled for a single, but Bush went back and gathered in the fly on a dead run, taking the ball over his shoulder with his back to it. Loud bravos from the assembled bugs. Bush, being a very modest young man, merely blushed and gave his best party bow.

Robbed of Hit

Morowitz then singled a hot one off Sisler's arm that scorched his sleeve. Brenton cracked a wicked looking liner, but La Fleur reached forth his gnarled paw and snagged it, robbing Brenton of a sure hit.

In the last half of the third, Waite doubled and Bush ran for him. Bush played around at second, taking long leads until Lugo snapped one over and caught him off the bag. La Fleur landed on the next pitch for a circuit clout, getting the first of the two home runs rung up for the day. This untied the count and they went into the fourth with Sunland 3, Cubs 2.

Lee, first up for the Cubs, promptly tied the going again with a long drive to left that he turned into a home run by some fast footwork. Guich then waited Sisler out for a pass. Lugo struck out. Duarte popped out to Sisler and Kaller struck out.

Sunland made a bid in their half but failed to do any damage.

In the fifth the Cubs untied it again. Aguilar was hit by a pitched ball after Baxter had struck out. Guich ran for him and went to third on Morowitz's single. Morowitz and Guich then pulled that old one, the double steal, and Guich scored. Morowitz scored on Brenton's single. Sisler tightened up and fanned Lee and Guich flew out to Slats Bradburn. Slats pulled the star play of the day in the seventh inning, which comes later.

Didn't Touch Third

Sunland got back one run in their half on Waite's home run. Philips had singled ahead of Waite and galloped in on the circuit clout, but Kaller yelled for the ball and touched third, claiming Philips had not touched there when he passed. The ump thumbed Philips out and his run didn't count. Right here the crew had their angerosity aroused and indulged in a mean piece of chatter with Umpire Kimpel. Several rounds of light persiflage were exchanged with nobody having a noticeable advantage. When the smoke cleared La Fleur and Sisler ended the inning by striking out and Kimpel resigned the job.

Callahan then took up the umpiratical duties with success. No more arguments were brewed under his glaring eye.

Sisler was in the hole in the sixth and wobbled considerable, but tightened up and fanned Aguilar for the third out with men on second and third.

In the last half Bradburn opened with a strike-out. Dutch Brandstetter walked for the third consecutive time. Petrotta, a recruit of two weeks' standing who is clouting the pill at a fast clip, singled. Dutch scored and Petrotta went to second on Minter's single. Minter and Petrotta advanced on the third baseman's error. Petrotta scored on Bush's infield single. Philips struck out. Waite walked, filling the bags. La Fleur tried for one out of the lot and whiffed out. Two runs.

In the seventh Sisler wobbled again and only the smart skull work of Slats Bradburn saved his hide from a tanning. Morowitz drew a pass and went to second on Brenton's single. Both advanced on a wild pitch. It looked like Sisler's day's work was done but Manager Waite left him in there to see if he could take it. Three on, none down.

Caught Off Second

Brenton took a long lead off second and didn't bother to watch. Slats came stealthily in from center field and Waite called for a waste ball and snapped it down, nailing Brenton flat-footed when Slats put it on him. Lee stole second while Guich was striking out. Morowitz attempted to steal home and was nailed by some quick work by Waite.

This was Sisler's worst inning and it looked like curtains until Slats put some heart into the boys with his sneak-up on Brenton from the outfield.

Morowitz, a spit ball artist, took up the pitching for the Cubs in the last half and hit Sisler on the arm to start. Sisler advanced on a passed ball. Slats singled, Sisler taking third.

Dutch, the hitless wonder, startled the natives at this crucial moment by striking out, a rare occurrence for him.

Sisler and Slats scored on Petrotta's long single. Minter singled and Bush sacrificed them up a notch. Petrotta scored when Philips singled off the shortstop's leg. Philips stole second, but Waite struck out. Three runs.

The Cubs kept boring in and in the eighth put over two more markers when Aguilar tripled, scoring Kaller, who had singled. The Cubs were getting Sisler's range and Morowitz pickled a slow ball for two, scoring Aguilar.

They went into the ninth with the score 9 to 7 for Sunland. The Cubs were still fighting and started a rally that netted one run but fell short of tying the score. Lee singled, Guich struck out. Lugo singled Lee to third and Lee scored on Duarte's single. Duarte was caught napping off first. Lugo taking third. With two down Lugo attempted to steal home and was thrown out at the plate.

Next Sunday's victims have not yet been booked, but will be announced in these columns later.

MONTROSE

RUSHES WORK ON COMMUNITY BLDG.

Program Is Being Planned For Dedication of Gift To Glendale

The community building at Sparr Heights is now being rushed to completion.

R. E. Tucker, director of local community service and playground commissioner for the city of Glendale, visited this new structure recently, and announced himself well pleased with its progress. He is looking forward to its dedication with a great deal of interest.

B. L. Sutton of 534 East Windsor road, who has the plastering contract, states that it will be about ten days longer before the plastering can be completed. This was delayed somewhat because of the humidity in the atmosphere preceding last week's rain. The entire building will contain between 2600 and 3000 square yards of plastered surface. About ten lathers and plasterers are busy on the job.

Tentative plans are being made by the Barnum & Walters Realty company for an appropriate program, as soon as this building is completed. They are making a present of it to the city of Glendale.

Traffic Increases

Traffic over the Glendale & Montrose railway has increased a third during the past six months, according to a statement recently made by its general manager, P. L. Hatch. He added that its traffic has doubled in the past two years.

"The future looks very bright," he says. "The situation looks very encouraging."

Plans are now under way to extend this electric line half a mile. It now stops at Los Angeles avenue, and is to be extended to Pennsylvania avenue. This will take it to the western boundary of La Crescenta. Deeds to the right-of-way are now being obtained, and actual construction should be completed within the next sixty days.

W. A. Mulligan, maintenance engineer, is now supervising the improvement of the right-of-way through Sparr Heights. This is thirty feet wide, and is to be graded and made as attractive as possible. At least a month will be consumed in this work.

Form Woman's Club

Montrose and La Crescenta are now boasting a woman's athletic club. Meetings are being held temporarily at the home of Mrs. M. S. Collins, on Prospect avenue, Monday and Thursday evenings. Dr. Turner is in charge of the classes. An invitation to attend is being extended to all women of the valley who are interested in getting fatter, thinner, healthier, or happier.

L. A. Wallace and C. E. Ellis expect to move into their new real estate office on Honolulu avenue, between Rosemont and Ocean View avenues, in the near future.

"Pacific Long Distance"

(Brooks E. Miller Speaking
From Glendale 677-W)

"Please Get Hudson D. Wilcox for me, 645311 --- Long Beach"

(Central)—"All right Mr. Miller."

(Bell)—Ting-a-linga-ling.

(Miller)—"Hello, Wilcox?"

(Wilcox)—"Yes; who's this?"

(Miller)—"Brooks E. Miller, of Glendale, the fastest growing city of the United States."

(Miller)—"Rats—All you've got down there is that big WART, Signal Hill."

(Wilcox)—"Seems to me your BEMCO OIL SYNDICATE likes that big WART nevertheless."

(Miller)—"Sure! It's the best thing down there, next to A. P. HOFFMAN, Director of the Security Trust & Savings Bank, one of our Trustees."

(Wilcox)—"Is HE one of your Trustees?"

(Miller)—"Sure; do you know him?"

(Wilcox)—"I'll say so. I drilled two wells in which he is a heavy shareholder, and, believe me, he is one of the finest men in Long Beach—has been a success all of his life, and a good man to be connected with."

(Miller)—"My cousin, who lives on the BEMCO lease, and looks after our property there, just telephoned me that you wanted a BEMCO Unit."

(Wilcox)—"With Mr. Hoffman in there, I sure do."

(Miller)—"I wouldn't sell YOU one unit, Mr. Wilcox."

(Wilcox)—"Why?"

(Miller)—"Because, as a drilling superintendent, I know you know Signal Hill well, and our territory in particular. And our contractor has drilled 1740 feet in 11 drilling days."

(Wilcox)—"That's going some. What's the capitalization of BEMCO?"

(Miller)—"ONLY 1250 units at $100.00 each, giving 50 per cent of the oil."

(Wilcox)—"Who gets the other 50 per cent?"

(Miller)—"The land-owners get 35 per cent and the Trustees 15 per cent."

(Wilcox)—"What salaries do the Trustees receive?"

(Miller)—"They serve without any pay whatsoever—we MUST get oil or they lose."

(Wilcox)—"That's fair enough. What's the size of the BEMCO lease?"

(Miller)—"One and one-quarter (1¼) acres."

(Wilcox)—"How many wells will you drill on it?"

(Miller)—"I am raising just enough money to drill one well to a depth of 4500 feet on a TURN-KEY contract, expecting to be in the HIGH-GRAVITY oil sand for a depth of 300 feet at least. When the unit-holders have received all of their money back in dividends, I am in favor of setting aside 50 per cent of their production and drill a second well."

(Wilcox)—"That's great. Who pays the dividends and how often are they paid?"

(Miller)—"When the oil is sold to the pipe-line company, they pay to one of the leading banks of Long Beach, who divides the money pro-rata and mails it out to the unit holders monthly."

(Wilcox)—"That's a fine way to handle it."

(Miller)—"Bet your life it is. And most of that dividend money is coming right back to GLENDALE."

(Wilcox)—"Don't make me laugh. Don't forget Long Beach's share."

(Miller)—"Now I got you! Are you going to BUY ONE unit or FIVE?"

(Wilcox)—"Put me down for FIVE, and I'll meet you on the BEMCO lease tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and give you my check."

(Miller)—"I'll be Johnny-on-the-spot. Thanks."

(Wilcox)—"So long, and good luck."

(Miller)—"Farewell, until tomorrow at 2 o'clock."
